

YOBS BAN CURBS CAR PARK ANTICS

By Clare Butler

A BANNING order has led to improvements at a car park plagued by anti-social behaviour, a councillor claims.

The Stourbridge car park was once a hotspot for anti-social behaviour, but has seen improvements after the introduction of a Public Space Protection Order (PSPO), according to a ward councillor.

Windows were smashed and walls daubed with graffiti and teenagers were banned from the Ryemarket shopping centre pay and display car park in Stourbridge.

The order saw teenagers banned from the site in January under new measures to tackle the problems.

It has stopped under 18s from entering the car park unless driving a vehicle or accompanied by a responsible adult.

Councillor Nicolas Barlow said when the PSPO was introduced he hoped it could bring an end to the anti-social behaviour misery.

He said: "Since the introduction of the PSPO Everything so far seems to be so good.

"There may always be a few issues that need to be addressed but from speaking with people it looks like it is working well - which is a really positive thing for the town."

The shopping centre also signed up to trial of the web-based crime-reporting tool Facewatch earlier this month.

Share

It aims to save police time and effort and allow shopkeepers to share information on possible troublemakers.

Shoppers using the car park had complained about gangs of teenagers and skateboarders. Windows were smashed and walls daubed with graffiti.

Information from Facewatch can be shared instantly, allowing members to warn other town centre shops and the police about potential causes for concern.

Speaking about the Facewatch rollout at the time, Ryemarket manager Kelley Dyas said she was delighted that the centre was at the forefront of the new scheme.

She added: "Our tenants are giving their full support and we hope to see the scheme extended across the rest of the town and even further afield.

"I'm sure it will be to everyone's benefit - except the criminals and troublemakers."

SKYE THE TARGET IN CLUB'S FUNDRAISING GOAL

Olly Thomas, Zak Hall, Harry Warren, Sienna McSwiggan, Eashan Patel, Shae McSwiggan, Taylor-James Warren and Carl Bottley

A JUNIOR football team scored with a fundraising effort for a little girl with a rare brain disease.

Netherton Colts raised £1,200 for Skye-Summer Warren, from Halesowen, who is currently in and out of hospital undergoing treatment.

The money was raised at three presentation evenings at the club which saw sports memorabilia auctioned off and raffles held.

After hearing about the three-year-old's condition from a friend, Colts club treasurer Carl Bottley, said he wanted to do something to help. He said: "I saw Skye's fundraising campaign on Facebook and decided to get in touch.

"I met up with her mom and dad and spoke to them and they are such a lovely family I just knew I wanted to do something to help them out.

"At Netherton Colts we have been putting on charity events for around 16 years now, so we had three football presentation nights and all the lads had trophies for taking part.

"Raffles and prizes were also on offer. We had more than 300 people on every night.

"Skye's parents Melanie and Harry both came along to the nights and were so grateful for our support. The money is for them to do whatever they can to give Skye the best quality of life."

Skye was diagnosed with Anti-NMDA receptor encephalitis, a rare brain disease. She will need ongoing hospital care for the rest of her life.

The fundraising campaign aims to buy specialised equipment and make any adaptation's that are needed to help her along the way.

MAKEOVER

Funding agreed for upgraded pavilion

PARISH councillors have agreed funding for a scheme to revamp rundown changing rooms in Hagley.

The village authority has agreed to find £90,000 from reserves to help fund the project to replace the dilapidated changing rooms on the village playing fields. The existing changing rooms will be demolished and replaced with a brand new 'pavilion' facility.

The funding will trigger a further £100,000 grant from the Football Association. Parish council leader Steve Collella said: "This initiative will be a great benefit."

HOUSING

Homes scheme at former primary site

A FORMER Halesowen school that has remained empty for almost 10 years is being sold for housing. Holt Farm Primary has been subject to vandalism, flytipping and an arson attack in 2014.

The site was on the market for £1.35m and could house about 20 or 30 properties. Halesowen North councillor Karen Shakespeare said a sale had been agreed and legal arrangements going through.

She said: "This is incredibly positive news."

SAFETY

Speed reduction bid for road near college

COUNCILLORS look set to approve plans for speed bumps and a 20mph limit on a busy road outside a Dudley school.

The limit in St James's Road by Castle High School and Visual Arts College, which has around 1,000 students, will be cut by 10mph as part of the £15,000 scheme.

Humps will be installed at five locations along a stretch of the road, which is also home to two private day nurseries.

Some residents had objected to having humps outside their homes but Dudley Council has been recommended to approve the safety measures at a meeting next week.

83-year-old robbed by evil trickster

A CCTV image of the suspect

AN 83-year-old woman was pinned down and robbed in her Dudley home by a man who had offered to help find her cat.

She had been out looking for her missing pet when she met the man at Herald Court, off Priory Street, who offered to help her search.

After looking for the lost pet he went to her home nearby for a drink. But he returned at around 10.30pm and stole bank cards and cash before throwing her to the floor, pinning her down and threatening the victim. She managed to pull a pendant alarm and he fled.

But detectives believe the trickster returned a short time later and banged on the door, claiming to be the police. He walked away when she did not answer.

The man first encountered the woman at around 6pm on May 12, and attacked her at around 10.30pm.

Detectives released a CCTV image of the man suspected of the crime.

Detective Constable Gareth Homer said: "This is a horrific attack on an elderly woman in her own home, by someone who posed as a friend and offered a helping hand."

"We are determined to find the man responsible and are eager to hear from anyone who thinks they may know the identity of the suspect."

Police spokeswoman Hannah Fitzgerald said: "She was thrown to the floor when the man was in her house. The lady was thankfully not injured but she suffered mild bruising and was shaken up."

Contact DC Homer by calling 101 or emailing contactus@west-midlands.pnn.police.uk.

Alternatively, call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

The pet cat was later found.

Teenage driver admits to causing death crash

A TIPTON teenager has admitted killing a telecoms engineer after driving into him while speeding at the wheel of his mother's car.

Matthew Harding, aged 27, was working at the roadside in a Coseley street when he was struck by the Citroen Picasso.

The 17-year-old boy, who cannot be named because of his age, had been distracted as he was trying to turn on the windscreen wipers in the car and then swerved to avoid a parked car, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard.

The vehicle careered into two Virgin Media technicians, Mr Harding and his colleague Jermaine Buchanan, at the corner of Jack Holden Avenue, Woodcross.

The court heard the youth had been driving at 47mph in the residential area and had smoked cannabis the night before.

Mr Harding, a father from Oldbury, had only got married a week before he was killed on July 20 last year. He died the following day in hospital while Mr Buchanan suffered a broken arm and jaw, and a twisted ankle. He has since made a full recovery.

Mr Harding's widow Danielle was in court to see the teenager - who was 16 at the time of the crash - plead guilty to causing death by dangerous driving and causing serious injury by dangerous driving. He will be sentenced on June 27.

The court was told how the teenager 'panicked' after seeing the parked car and turned sharply towards the kerb where the two men were working.

Reading the youth's basis of plea to the court, barrister Cathlyn Orchard said: "I did not know how to drive any car and should not have been driving."

"I had smoked cannabis the night before but do not feel it affected my driving. It was raining and I went to turn on the windscreen wipers but did not know where they were."

Another boy, also aged 17, from Bilston, has pleaded not guilty to aggravated vehicle taking and is to stand trial.

Tears shed as barber cuts and runs

Retiring barber Mick Booth has retired from his salon in Lye High Street after 44 years

A POPULAR barber has cut short his career, calling time on his business after 44 years.

Mick Booth, of Wordsley, set up the business in Lye High Street after previously working for other people. He decided, along with his wife and business co-owner Carol, to close the shop after its lease came to an end.

Mick, aged 65, has cut the hair of thousands of people over the years, making legions of friends and many of them popped in to wish him well in the future before he shut up shop. In the past, he has bumped into clients in Florida and Kenya and a few big burly blokes couldn't help but shed a tear as he finally finished.

"It's strange, it hasn't really sunk in yet," he said. "It's mixed emotions, it doesn't feel like I've finished forever."

"It's been my life for all these years. There have been lots of changes to Lye over the years and I've managed to survive them."

"Many of my customers have become good friends, it's amazing the way they stand by you." Mick added: "I've always been a barber, I did my apprenticeship when I finished school and worked in a couple of salons before starting up on my own."

"It's extremely sad, it's the end of an era, but I've taken a lot away from it. It's been an experience."

"I think the secret is that no matter who comes through the door, you treat them exactly the same. And if they want a style you don't necessarily like, you give the customer what they want."

Youngsters can show off wares at Glass Cone

YOUNG traders and buskers will have the chance to showcase their products at the historic Red House Glass Cone next month.

The Teenage Market is a nationwide initiative set up by brothers Joe and Tom Barratt in Stockport as a way of supporting young people and transforming town centres.

Dudley held its first ever Teenage Market in October 2015 with more than 30 stalls and a range of performers taking over Stone Street Square for the day.

The event will now move to the Red House Glass Cone on July 2 and 3.

Councillor Khurshid Ahmed, cabinet member for planning and economic development, said: "The Teenage Market was a huge hit when it came to Dudley and I think that the Red House Glass Cone is an ideal venue for this innovative project."

"The cone is already a hub for creative industries and has hosted a range of markets and music events over the years."

"The Teenage Market is a great opportunity for young people to get their businesses off the ground and showcase their creative talents and develop self-confidence and their inter-personal skills."

The event runs from 10am to 4pm on both days.

Choir chosen to sing at festival

YOUNG singers from the Black Country have been chosen to perform at Birmingham Symphony Hall in July.

Stourbridge's Got 2 Sing youth choir will take to the stage as part of the Music for Youth National Festival, from July 5 to 9.

It will involve around 40,000 young musicians from across the country. The choir, comprising 24 members aged from nine to 16, will perform on July 6.

Members will be singing Wings by Birdy, I See The Light from Tangled the movie and Adele's Rolling In The Deep. They will also be participating in several vocal workshops. For tickets and more information see www.thsh.co.uk

The choir will perform at Mary Stevens Hospice on June 12 to mark the Queen's 90th birthday.

Quartet performs for jazz session

THE Patsy Gamble Quartet will be the next band to perform in the latest Jazz at the Bonded Warehouse season in Stourbridge.

The concert is on Friday, June 10, at 7.30pm with tickets on the door at the Canal Street venue costing £8

Closure of school will go ahead by next year

DUDLEY Council has agreed to the closure of The Coseley School by August 2017 – citing the decision as ‘in the interests of pupils’.

It comes as bosses vow to open a new establishment on the site by 2020 – with ‘cutting edge education’ at the forefront.

The Henne Drive school will now undergo a phased closure over the next 12 months.

More than 250 people responded to a consultation period over the closure which ran from January to April.

Eighty four per cent did not support the closure despite the low pupil numbers, poor exam results and financial difficulties.

Speaking at the cabinet meeting last Thursday night, Councillor Ian Cooper, head of children’s services, said: “This decision is about putting the needs of pupils first.

“We simply cannot allow this school to slip further down in terms of pupil numbers and the financial difficulties it is in. We have looked long and hard at this issue, but we have to do the right thing for everyone at The Coseley School,” he added.

Thousands of angry parents have battled to save the school, with a petition gathering more than 2,000 signatures in recent months.

Michaela Garbett, from Roseville, said: “It is incredibly disappointing. We felt like it was just a done deal that was over with too quickly.

“All we can do now is continue to support Coseley and the plans for a possible new school in 2020. But I’m gutted.”

Campaign to spot child exploitation

PEOPLE across the West Midlands can play their part in helping to tackle child sexual exploitation (CSE) by knowing how to spot the warning signs, a new campaign suggests.

Councils in the region and West Midlands Police have joined forces to raise awareness of CSE.

The campaign website www.seemehearme.org.uk has information about CSE and how to spot the warning signs, along with help and advice for young people, parents and carers, professionals and schools.

Anyone concerned about the safety of a young person should call West Midlands Police on 101, speak in confidence to Barnardo’s on 0121 3595333 or in an emergency call 999.

A BUS ended up in a front garden after smashing through a fence in Wordsley. The Diamond bus came to rest in the garden in Balmoral Road at around noon last Wednesday.

No one was hurt.

Medical practice is rated ‘outstanding’

Eve Hill Medical Practice in Dudley

A GPs’ surgery in Dudley has been rated as ‘outstanding’ following an inspection.

Eve Hill Medical Practice, on Himley Road, received the rating following an inspection by the Care Quality Commission in March.

Inspectors said staff at the centre treated patients with ‘kindness and respect’ and had the ‘skills, knowledge and experience’ to deliver ‘effective care and treatment.’ Care and leadership were all rated as outstanding, while safety and responses to people’s needs were rated as good.

Dr David Shukla, a GP and partner, said: “We are absolutely delighted with the results of this inspection, which are a reflection of the dedication and hard work of our fantastic team.

Positive

“We have always tried to provide the best possible services for our patients and it is wonderful to receive such positive feedback.”

Janet Williamson, deputy chief inspector of general practice and dentistry at the CQC’s central region, said: “It is clear that Eve Hill Medical Practice is providing an effective, responsive and well-led service, which is a real asset to the people living in this part of Dudley.

“Staff had the skills, knowledge and experience to deliver effective care and treatment. The practice used innovative and pro-active methods to improve patient outcomes and worked with other local providers to share best practice. We observed a strong patient-centred culture and we saw that staff treated patients with kindness and respect.”

Marriage numbers in region drop by 10pc

THE number of people getting married in the Black Country and Staffordshire fell by around 10 per cent in 12 months, latest figures reveal.

A total of 7,296 couples tied the knot in religious or civil ceremonies, data from the Office for National Statistics (ONS) shows.

The number of marriages in 2013, the latest statistics to be published, fell from 8,140 in 2012 – a reduction of 10.3 per cent.

But the region mirrored the national picture which also saw a drop and it’s believed people could have been avoiding the number ‘13’ fearing it an unlucky year to get married. Financial reasons with Britain still recovering after the recession may also have had an impact.

Dudley saw the biggest drop in the number of marriages with 22 per cent. Some 893 couples tied the knot in 2013 compared with 1,155 during the previous year.

But Councillor John Martin, cabinet member for law and governance, said numbers getting hitched at register offices and other approved venues had increased since then.

Superstition

“Marriages continue to be popular in Dudley borough and the number of people choosing to tie the knot has grown over the past two years,” he said.

“We have a range of venues for people to get married including Priory Hall, Himley Hall and the brand new Thomas Robinson building. There was a drop in numbers in 2013 which may have had something to do with superstition or even financial reasons during economic uncertainty at the time,” he added.

In Sandwell there was a 12 per cent drop in the number of ceremonies with 672 in 2013, down from 770. In Wolverhampton, there was a seven per cent fall with 789 couples getting wed in 2012 compared with 733 in 2013 and in Walsall the number fell by around six per cent from 720 to 675. In Staffordshire, the number dropped by 10 per cent from 4,806 to 4,312.

Nationally, there were 240,854 marriages in England and Wales, a drop of 8.6 per cent compared with 2012 and the first fall since 2009.

Elizabeth McLaren, from the ONS, said: “The fall could indicate the continuation of the long-term decline in marriages since 1972 or could be due to couples choosing to postpone their marriage to avoid the number 13 which is perceived as unlucky by many cultures.”

Escape for drivers as cars overturn

A MAN was taken to hospital after his car landed on its roof following a crash in Sedgley.

The Renault Megane hit a parked vehicle and flipped over, coming to rest on the pavement in Lime Road in the early hours of Saturday morning. He suffered arm and shoulder injuries. Fire Crews from Bilston and Dudley attended.

A West Midlands Fire Service spokesman said: “The occupier managed to self-extricate himself. He was out of the car before we arrived.

Brigg Ford of West Midlands Police said: “We were called by ambulance crews to an incident where a car had rolled over at around 4.20am.

“The vehicle was on its roof. The driver suffered a nasty gash to his arm, but it wasn’t a life-threatening or life-changing injury. He was taken to hospital.”

Meanwhile, a young driver was lucky to escape with minor injuries after flipping his car on a winding road in Stourbridge on Friday night.

The 20-year-old hurt his shoulder in the incident in Bagley Road just after 9pm. No other vehicles were involved.

Mr Ford said: “The car was blocking the road. But the road was quickly closed off. The road was closed but reopened after a short time. The 20-year-old male driver suffered an injured shoulder.”

NEWS IN BRIEF

Russells Hall trust is one of the best

THE NHS trust that runs Russells Hall Hospital has been named as one of the best in the UK.

The Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust picked up a CHKS Top Hospital Award 2016 at the ceremony in London. The trust was shortlisted in the categories of ‘Excellence in Delivering 24-7 Emergency Care Award’ and ‘Data Quality Award’ at the annual event. Paul Bytheway, chief operating officer, said: “We are thrilled to be recognised as one of the best performing trusts in the UK and this award is a testament to our dedicated staff.”

Museum lands top industry award

THE Black Country Living Museum has won an award at an industry ceremony.

The venue, in Tipton Road, Dudley won the trading and enterprise award at the Museums and Heritage Awards for Excellence.

Andrew Lovett, the museum’s director and chief executive, said: “We are absolutely delighted to win such a prestigious award.

“Our events programme and filming location hire have been examples of how it is possible to use our unique space in positive and creative ways.”

£5,5000 raised at dragon boat race

SHOP staff raised more than £5,000 for Dudley-based White House Cancer Support (WHCS) at this year’s dragon boat race at Himley Hall.

A team from Midcounties Co-operative stores in Tipton, Sedgley, Tivdale and Kingswinford competed in various heats of 350 yards across the Great Pool. Their efforts generated £5,500.

Charity manager Caroline Webb said: “It is an amazing amount and we are absolutely over the moon.”

Nurse presented with a national accolade

A DUDLEY nurse who helps patients with learning disabilities has won a top national award.

Jacqui Howells, learning disabilities liaison nurse for The Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust, was handed the good nurse accolade at the Great British Care Awards.

“Receiving a national award means so much to me but the fact that my patients nominated me and think that I am a good nurse makes it even more special,” she said.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

AS another Chelsea Flower Show slips into history, I reflect once again on the endless joys of gardening and how profoundly grateful I am that people find time to do it. Other people.

SUCH is the march of the mobile phone that many landline phones barely ring from one day to the next. In fact, this week comes a new landmark; it is now reckoned that half of all landline calls are nuisance calls. I took one only the other day. A call-centre lady, speaking in a strong Indian accent began, in all seriousness: "Hello. My name is Cherie Johnson." I informed her that my name was Father Christmas. We hung up at the same moment.

WHEN will they ever learn? In the 2001 Census, nearly 400,000 Brits declared their religion as "Jedi knight." In this year's competition to find a name for the UK's new research vessel, more than 100,000 voted for "Boaty McBoatface." You might imagine that by now the authorities would have realised you can no longer ask the Great British Public a sensible question and get a sensible answer. We are now told that the 2021 Census may include a question on our sexuality and gender. Let me be the first to out myself as Neutral McNewface.

AS is so often the case, life imitates Brian. There is a scene in Monty Python's Life of Brian when a bunch of soothsayers are vying for the attention of passers-by with their prophecies. One unusually precise soothsayer, speaking in a strong Ulster accent, declares that:

"For the demon shall bear a nine-bladed sword. Nine-bladed! Not two or five or seven, but nine." I am reminded of him as the Remain lobby assure us with great precision that if we leave the EU the average cost of a family's shopping will rise by exactly £220 while GDP will drop by precisely 3.6 per cent and 820,000 jobs – not 800,000 or 850,000 – will be lost. Coming soon: the Brexit plague of 1,999,997 locusts.

THE university of East Anglia has advised students not to throw their mortar boards into the air at their graduation ceremonies but to choose the "safer" option of miming the throw and having images of mortar boards digitally added to the photos. How many students have been slain by falling mortar boards is not disclosed. If the traditional graduate headgear is so dangerous, perhaps students should throw something else into the air, something light that all students possess and will cause no injury. Unpaid electricity bills, overdraft refusals, county-court judgments and so on.

Open day for hospital volunteers

PEOPLE interested in volunteering at hospitals in Dudley are invited to an open day next week. There are already more than 400 helpers on the books at Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust. But staff are keen to attract more people to join the team, which works at Russells Hall and Guest hospitals in Dudley and the Corbett in Stourbridge. The volunteer open day will be hosted on Monday (June 6) by chief executive Paula Clark and chief nurse Dawn Wardell at 10am in the Lecture Theatre at Russells Hall Hospital.

Visitors will also be to talk some of the hospital trust's existing volunteers and hear from members of staff about the contributions the team makes. From providing hot drinks and helping out at meal times, to making sure patients can find their way to appointments, volunteers help in a variety of ways across the three sites. They may also be called upon for ferrying patient files around departments and keeping medical supplies well-stocked. Most importantly they offer a listening ear and a shoulder to cry on when people need it the most.

Ms Clark said: "Anyone over the age of 16 who would like to make a difference in Dudley can apply to become a volunteer at the trust, whether they can spare a few hours a week around existing commitments or want to give their time more regularly, we'd love to hear from them." Book a place by calling 01384 456111 extension 1064 or emailing communications@dgh.nhs.uk

Quotas put wardens under pressure, claim

By Richard Guttridge

TRAFFIC wardens across Dudley are being put under pressure to fine more drivers because of an 'unfair' evaluation system, it has been claimed.

Wardens say they feel under pressure to catch out more drivers as they are compared on their performances.

One warden said they had been told they must each issue an average of 4.7 tickets a day to meet budget projections. However, Dudley Council said it did not set such targets.

Pie charts and other data showing how many tickets have been given out by each worker have been put up on notice boards and it is felt the system is heaping pressure on those giving out the fewest tickets.

One warden, who did not want to be named, said: "We have been told we have got to achieve 4.7 tickets a day to pay our wages."

Spotlight

"When I started I was told my job was to keep the streets safe and clear but now we're being told if we're not issuing tickets we're not doing our jobs properly."

"Then they start putting pie charts up and saying 'so and so did more, you have got to do better'."

He added: "It has taken away our discretion. If someone is a couple of minutes late outside the grace period, sometimes we will say don't do it again and give them a slap on the wrist. We can't do that now."

Dudley Council said the evaluation system was in place to make sure standards remained high.

Councillor Hilary Bills, cabinet member for environmental services, said: "We are not allowed to set ticket targets for our parking enforcement staff, but like all council employees, we have an ongoing evaluation system in place for our staff."

"This helps us to make sure they are continuing to provide a good service to the public in ensuring roads and restricted areas are free from obstructing vehicles to help traffic flow."

£100,000 raked in by parking fines

Clive Sowerby, of Sowerby shoe shop, in Lower High Street, Stourbridge, is campaigning for longer parking times

DUDLEY Council raked in almost £100,000 from parking fines in a 12-month period.

Figures from a Freedom Of Information request show the authority made nearly £100,000 from handing out fines in the borough in the 2014/15 financial year.

This was an increase by more than a third from 2013/14, when £59,718 was collected. Wolverhampton Street in Dudley saw the highest amount of fines issued in 2014/15, with 820 parking tickets earning the council £25,508.32. Dudley High Street came second, with 561 fines totalling £18,541, and Stourbridge High Street was third with 525 fines totalling £16,666.

Other hot spots included Stone Street in Dudley with 534 fines raking in £16,525 and Pensnett High Street with 439 fines boosting council coffers by £15,562. Three streets remained in the top five worst affected areas from 2013/14 to 2014/15. In 2013/14 Stourbridge High Street had come top with 522 fines totalling £17,613.

The authority revealed the highest earning pay and display car park in 2014/15 saw an income of £222,074.59 in 2014/15, down more than 50k from £274,219.08 in 2013/14. But the council would not reveal the location.

Shopkeeper Clive Sowerby, of Sowerby shoe shop in Lower High Street, Stourbridge, who has campaigned for longer parking times said one hour stays were 'ludicrous'. Environment boss Councillor Hilary Bills said: "Parking restrictions are there to keep the borough's roads moving and to make sure people are safe."

Sir Lenny to join cast of hit TV series Broadchurch

DUDLEY born actor and comedian Sir Lenny Henry is to join the cast of hit drama Broadchurch, it has been announced.

He will appear in the third and final series of the award-winning ITV crime show, with shooting already under way. Details of the 57-year-old's role have not been revealed.

David Tennant and Olivia Colman will reprise their roles as DI Alec Hardy and DS Ellie Miller, with Jodie Whittaker and Andrew Buchan returning to play Beth and Mark Latimer.

Arthur Darvill returns as local vicar Paul Coates while Carolyn Pickles will be back as newspaper editor Maggie Radcliffe.

The new series will herald a brand new case for Miller and Hardy, with the detectives reuniting to investigate a serious sexual assault.

Creator Chris Chibnall said: "This is the final chapter of Broadchurch. We have one last story to tell, featuring both familiar faces and new characters. I hope it's a compelling and emotional farewell to a world and show that means so much to me."

The news of Sir Lenny's role in the ITV drama emerged as it was revealed he will also take part in a specially staged performance in Jamaica of Shakespeare's King Lear. The production – which is expected to be filmed for a TV documentary – will feature a cast of Jamaican and British actors.

Sir Lenny visited the island last month with theatrical director Paulette Randall.

New homes sell fast at Lockside

ONLY a handful of homes remain unsold at housebuilder Taylor Wimpey's Lockside Walk development in Brierley Hill.

Five of the plots are still available and the homes will all be ready to move into this summer. They are priced from £153,995 for two bedrooms to £279,995 for four.

Anne Wallace, regional sales and marketing director for Taylor Wimpey, said it had proved a fast-selling development.

The 80 homes are on the site of the old Lloyds works, off Brettell Lane, an engineering firm that made propellers during the Second World War before shifting production to chains and starter rings. The firm moved production to India 10 years ago and the factory was demolished.

Car crush death ruled an accident by coroner

A CORONER has ruled the death of a man who was crushed by a car when it collapsed on him at a storage yard in Cradley was an accident.

Emergency services were called to the industrial estate in James Scott Road at 5pm on May 19, but were unable to save the 64-year-old father, Michael Ashton, who was from The Parade, Dudley.

Black Country Coroners Court heard how Mr Ashton had been working on his silver Vauxhall Omega in a storage yard when his trolley jack had collapsed and he was crushed under the vehicle. He had been seen by a member of staff from neighbouring company MEK Commercial repairing the car just after 1pm.

A statement read out by the coroner, from Richard Williams, said: "I could see Mick working under his car at around 1.10pm. At around 16.45pm I had gone back to fetch a HGV but he was underneath and I could see his legs were not moving."

"I ran up to him and called his name but could see that the vehicle was then on top of him."

"I called for help and we raised the jack and pulled him out onto the board he had been working on but could see he had already passed away."

The cause of death given was crushing to the chest due to being trapped under the car.

Senior coroner Zafar Siddique said: "It appears that the jack had collapsed and he was sadly crushed under the vehicle. I conclude that this was an accidental death from crushing injury."

Old empty pub is facing demolition

PLANS have been put forward to demolish an empty former public house in the Black Country.

Developers have put forward an application for the demolition of Ye Olde Saltbrook in Lye.

Dudley Council decided the pub, which is in a mainly industrial area, was 'not a community asset' after receiving the application. The premises has stood unused for some time.

It is not known yet what type of development will replace the pub after it is cleared, as a planning application for any new project will need to be proposed.

Ye Olde Saltbrook was sold for around £95,000 by leisure property specialists Fleurets on December 18 last year.

1920s figurine sold for £20k

Five years jail for buying stun gun

Stun gun disguised as a torch

A MAN'S 'fascination' with stun guns has put him behind bars for five years after he bought weapons disguised as torches.

The case prompted a Wolverhampton Crown Court judge to issue a public warning that this was the lowest sentence people could expect if found in possession of such a weapon.

Steven Morton bought three of the weapons through a Chinese website, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told. Each was disguised as a torch, complete with a working light.

The second batch, which contained two stun gun 'torches', was intercepted at a Royal Mail sorting office in London on February 2, said Mr Peter McCartney, prosecuting.

They were being sent to the Wolverhampton home of the mother of 49-year-old Morton but he immediately admitted ordering the weapons when contacted by police. He also revealed that he had already received one from the same website.

Mr McCartney continued: "The defendant said that he had not known they were illegal. He said he was fascinated by them."

Mr Niall Skinner, defending, said: "His last conviction was 22 years ago. A lesson has been learnt about buying goods on the internet. He had no intention of committing any offence and has been entirely honest with police."

Morton, of Clifton Street, Sedgley, pleaded guilty to possession of a prohibited weapon and purchasing prohibited weapons.

Recorder Simon Ward told him: "Stun guns are extremely dangerous pieces of equipment and that is why people who possess them go to prison for at least five years."

More than 100 parents in court over truancy

MORE than 100 parents in Dudley borough have been taken to court due to child truancy in the past year.

A Freedom of Information request revealed that 116 parents were taken to court by the authority from May last year until last month.

It comes after the Government introduced tougher measures to address truancy, including deducting the cost of unpaid penalty notices from Child Benefit.

But Stourbridge's Councillor Nicolas Barlow said more work needed to be done to address the causes behind the truancy.

He said: "Any number is not good, unless there is a legitimate reason for a child to be out of class and they have had permission to have authorised absence. But 116 is high and very worrying – it needs to be addressed by whatever means possible."

"Ultimately, it is a drain on resources with court costs coming into play."

"I think the main thing is that we now need to look at reasons behind this and the underlying factors why children don't want to go to school – whether it be due to the lessons structure or things like bullying."

Understanding

"If we could get the outline causes and then meet with pupils and guardians then maybe we could get a better understanding behind this."

By law all children of compulsory school age – between five and 16 – must receive a suitable full-time education. The law states if 'the parent knows that his/her child is failing to attend regularly at school without reasonable justification to cause him to do so, he/she is guilty of an offence'.

Upon conviction a fine up to £2,500 per parent per child can be issued – or up to three months' imprisonment.

The figures come after it was revealed in March that the number of children expelled from Dudley secondary schools has risen by 75 per cent over a three-year period.

Nearly half of the 89 students kicked out in 2014/15 were excluded because of persistent disruptive behaviour.

Councillor Ian Cooper, cabinet member for children's services, said: "Prosecuting parents is always a last resort and follows a number of measures we have in place to remind parents of the importance of their children attending school and getting a good education."

Pupils draw on comics donation

Year 7 pupils Michael Evans, Ethan Quinn and Khaqan Ahmad with their comics

STUDENTS in Cradley Heath are diving into a world of fantasy heroes and time travel thanks to a donation from an international publishing giant.

Titan Comics have given staff at Ormiston Forge Academy more than 100 comic books to aid their work with student literacy.

The comics, which include Batman Superman, Doctor Who and Kung Fu Panda, will be used in a variety of different ways with students in Years 7 and 8. This includes the pupils creating their own comic strips based on Shakespeare plays and the setting up of a comic reading group.

Titan Comics, a new imprint from publisher Titan Books, heard about the work the academy had been doing with the National Literacy Trust through the school's marketing director Kris Griffin.

He said: "The next we know, a huge parcel arrived in reception full of comics from across their ranges, it's an incredible gesture."

Head of English, David Jenks said: "We are extremely grateful to Titan. We encourage our students to read, read, read, it's about engagement and these comics do just that."

Ricky Claydon, marketing manager at Titan Comics said: "We publish a wide range of comic books that will have something for everyone."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Pre-school praised for improvements

A PRE-SCHOOL in Dudley has made improvements over the past 12 months and has now been rated as 'good' by Ofsted.

Silverbells Pre-School had been told to improve following its last inspection. However, the education watchdog has now praised the pre-school at the Russells Hall Community Centre in Overfield Road.

Ofsted said 'good teaching' was helping children to progress in readiness for school. There was also praise for the manager who 'continues to drive improvements'.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done."

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

Warden's moan just ticket for hypocrisy

YOU know that parking enforcement is going too far when even the traffic wardens are complaining about it.

After years of platitudes about "keeping the traffic moving" and "keeping the public safe", a disgruntled warden in Dudley has revealed they are being told to issue an average of 4.7 tickets each a day to meet budget targets.

I would love to say that comes as a surprise, but really it is right up there with the revelation that Big Daddy used to like his grub.

It has long been my belief that the vast majority of parking tickets are nothing to do with either road safety or the free flow of traffic.

They are simply councils fining people for minor breaches of rules that they dreamt up themselves.

And ticketing targets for traffic wardens are the price we pay for the dreadful decision to take parking enforcement away from the police and to hand it over to local authorities.

Well here's an idea. Let's get rid of all civil parking wardens, the whole lot of them, and use the money to take on a few extra police. It might only be a handful of extra officers, but I'm sure they will come in handy.

And in return? Well, leave it to the police to deal with the small number of instances where there is a real issue of public safety or obstruction.

That will, of course, mean there is nobody to enforce the majority of parking offences, the ones that are nothing to do with public safety but simply people parking in places the council does not approve of. Never mind, I'm sure life will go on.

FANTASTIC story about burglary victim Yannick Read, who responded to the theft of his £1,000 racing bike by coming up with what surely must be the ultimate anti-theft device.

His gadget not only features a 150-decibel siren, but also a shotgun-style cartridge packed with gunpowder. This means the bike really does go up in smoke if some light-fingered little low-life tries to half-inch it. What's not to like?

What I don't understand, though, is why anyone would spend £1,000 on a bike. Maybe I'm sounding like the dad off the Yellow Pages advert.

DR HENRY Heimlich, who invented the lifesaving Heimlich manoeuvre in 1974, used his own technique for the first time last week.

The 96-year-old performed the procedure on a fellow resident of a care home in Cincinnati.

In the US alone, the manoeuvre is credited with saving 100,000 lives. Oh, and David Walliams used it when Simon Cowell choked on a mint. Swings and roundabouts, I guess.

Under cover: the remains of the Dornier bomber

Conservation centre manager Daren Priday looks inside the plane

Taking shape – a propeller from the Dornier Do 17

New chapter written for the 'Flying Pencil'

SOPHIE MADDEN reports on the restoration of the last surviving Second World War 2 German bomber of its type

AT first glance it looks like an unremarkable warehouse, with lighting strips shining down from the roof to show racks of shelving and cargo covered by dark green tarpaulin.

But underneath the covers lies a piece of Second World War military history.

The remains of the last Dornier Do 17 bomber lie sheltered from the elements as part of a project to conserve them for future generations.

The Germans built 1,500 of the bombers. The one now sitting in the Conservation Centre at RAF Museum Cosford was raised from the bottom of the Strait of Dover in the English Channel almost three years ago.

The Dornier and its many small components were sprayed with a citric acid solution for months in order to clear them of debris from their time under the water. There still remains more work to be done before the plane can go on permanent display.

Materials

On completion, the plane's permanent display will be the first time it has been seen since November, where it was the centre-piece of the museum's Conservation Centre Open Day.

Darren Priday, RAF Museum conservation centre manager, said they were waiting on confirmation from project adviser, Professor Mary Ryan from the Imperial College London, on how best to treat the metal before the aircraft goes on display to the public.

He said: "It is now in the hands of the museum's design and interpretation team to decide how the aircraft should be displayed and what supporting materials should be included in order to tell the story."

The Dornier's twin-engine, twin-fin configuration, together with the narrow fuselage and shoulder-mounted engines, gave the aircraft a distinctive silhouette and earned it the nickname 'The Flying Pencil'. More than 400 were employed by the Luftwaffe during the Battle of Britain in the Second World War.

Workers at RAF Cosford Museum reapplying the cover to protect the aircraft

At the time of the Dornier's recovery, it was unclear just how much of the aircraft could be saved following more than 70 years on the seabed. The process so far has seen the aircraft systematically sprayed – inside purpose-built hydration tunnels – with a low concentration citric acid-based solution.

Confident that the citric acid solution has done its job, the fuselage was removed from the tunnels in early September 2014 and has undergone an intense wash down, before being moved into the Conservation Centre. Technicians then began working on the Dornier full time, cleaning and scraping and removing deposits by hand.

The gradual process of removing the thick layer of marine deposits revealed several bullet holes and shrapnel damage on the airframe, plus small areas of the original paint finish.

The plane was shot down by the RAF on August 26 1940. Part of a large enemy formation, it was intercepted at noon as it tried to attack airfields in Essex.

This particular aircraft was forced to make an emergency landing on Goodwin Sands at low tide after an attack by Defiant fighters of No 264 Sqn that left both engines stopped and the crew wounded. Now deposits have been removed, conservationists have found bullet holes and shrapnel damage.

While working on some of the smaller components, volunteers also discovered push rods still coated in their original oil and when a pipe was removed from a fuel injection unit, a small amount of fuel was still present.

While smaller components are still receiving conservation treatment, the Dornier's forward fuselage, tail boom and wing have been temporarily covered by tarpaulins.

Under the coverings with the plane's parts is a dehumidifier which controls the environment and reduces humidity.

Kate lost half her weight and set up fashion firm

A DUDLEY mother-of-two who lost eight stone after life-threatening health concerns has now set up her own clothing company.

Kate Turner, aged 34, from Gornal, managed to slim down to size 12 from being a size 24.

At her heaviest Mrs Turner weighed 19 stone but after a lifestyle and diet change, along with having a gastric band fitted, she now weighs just over 11 stone.

The former lecturer has decided to turn fashionista by launching her new clothing company called 'Love The Size Your In'.

"At age 25 I weighed 19 stone, just after having my first son Harry," Mrs Turner said.

Problems

"I had had a few health problems due to being overweight. My gall-bladder was removed, my spleen was enlarged, knee operations due to excessive wear, backache, general fatigue and I was borderline diabetic.

"I knew I had to do something as my life was being threatened by the amount of weight I was carrying.

"My partner Kieran wanted us to get married but at the size I was I didn't want to hide my wedding photographs away," she added.

In August 2010, a year before having her second son, Ronnie, Mrs Turner decided to pay to have a gastric band fitted, which saw her lose four stone by January 2011. She got married in July 2013 weighing ten-and-a-half stone.

"I always struggled to get nice clothes to fit, because I was young and wanted to wear what my friends did. This frustration always stayed with me."

Fancy dress picnic at zoo

A FANCY dress picnic party for under-fives takes place at Dudley Zoo at the end of this month.

Taking place in the castle courtyard on June 29 and 30, entertainment will include puppet shows, magic acts, a bouncy castle, balloon modelling, nursery rhymes and fairytales and face painting.

There will also be a chance to meet the zoo's tiger mascot, Jambi, as well as getting up close to furry friends during animal encounters, feeds and talks. Youngsters will also be able to show-off their fancy dress outfits in a parade around the courtyard with medals available for all participants.

The zoo's marketing manager Andrea Hales said: "Our under-fives days are always great fun, so why not make a picnic and come and join us for a fun-filled day?"

Tickets are available to book in advance at £6 for children aged two to five and £6 per adult. Under-twos are free.

WOULD YOU LIKE FRESHER, SMOOTHER SKIN WITH FEWER WRINKLES AND SCARS?

Our brand new Collagen PIN treatment is for you.

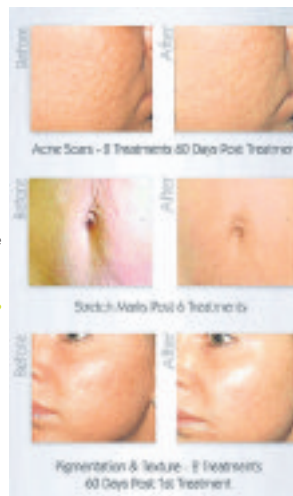

It's one of the most advanced methods of micro skin needling treatment available, non-invasive, virtually pain-free and clinically proven to stimulate your own natural collagen and elastin.

Your skin will become firmer, regaining elasticity. Fine lines and wrinkles will be visibly reduced, pores become finer, circulation is stimulated and the overall condition of your skin will improve dramatically - get that youthful plumpness back.

Why collagen PIN treatment?

* Collagen PIN is safer than dermal rollers, using sterile single-use surgical grade disposable needle tips.

* For once quicker, truly is better! Collagen PIN's powerful motor means quick perforation by the needles for a more comfortable experience (described as a vibrating tickle)

* Treatment can be customised for your skin as we can adjust the needle depth to suit your needs.

* Collagen PIN treatment has a shorter recovery time than many other skin needling treatments so you can continue your daily routine very shortly after treatment.

Results

Clients notice an immediate "glow" to their skin. Visible changes develop over the course of several days and weeks and results continue to improve for up to six months as collagen production increases.

* Smooth away wrinkles, folds and crow's feet - very effective on the neck and chest

* Reduces open pores.

* Improves the appearance of scars, especially indented or pitted acne scars.

* Improves the appearance of cellulite and stretch marks.

* Virtually pain free!

The driving force behind leading engine company

IN April 1919, while meeting at the Little Swan Hotel, Horseley Fields, a group of Wolverhampton businessmen resolved to create a new company to build gearboxes for the more powerful vehicles which were becoming common.

Among the group was Henry Meadows who had worked for Clyno Cars and before that Harper Bean of Tipton, makers of the Bean car, and he was to become managing director of the new concern, which was given his name.

Customer

The new factory for Henry Meadows Ltd was built in Park Lane, next to Guy Motors, and the first product was a 3-speed gearbox for a Vulcan lorry, delivered in May 1920.

Vulcan Engineering was the first main customer, but others followed, such as the Coventry Motor Car Co. and Coventry Simplex. It soon became clear that most customers preferred to buy in engines and gearboxes as one unit, so Meadows began making petrol, then diesel engines for cars, commercial vehicles and boats. TE Lawrence, Lawrence of Arabia, once worked for the company, developing an engine for an RAF Air-Sea rescue launch.

Guy Motors next door became an important customer, and during the Second World War Meadows engines were much in demand for armoured cars and tanks, and the factory was greatly expanded. Towards the end they began making Meteor tank engines, a version of the famous Rolls-Royce Merlin aero-engine.

After the war diesel engines were the main products, but for a while the company made the little Frisky micro-car. In 1965 the company followed Guy Motors into Jaguar's ownership, and then the British Motor Corporation, who decided to close the company in 1968.

Call to re-open full length of railway track

“LIGHT rail link hopes linking Sandwell and Dudley are dashed”. This decision was made last year, perhaps due to my insistence that Dudley people did not need to be shuttled on the very light rail tram on our own main line railway to Sandwell’s, only 2km down the track.

Far better to re-open the full length of 20km from Stourbridge to Walsall with links to the north and south of the country on the national rail network.

This valuable and successful passenger line for 100 years will be destroyed for ever when Midland Metro trams are introduced on only two short lengths either side of Dudley rail tunnel, beneath Castle Hill. The wasted main line railway will have, from Stourbridge, good trains for 5.5km, then 4km of light rail trams, 2km of very light rail shuttle trams, 3km of light rail trams once more and, then, a gap of 5.5km to Walsall!

In other words, on our 100-year-old line of successful fast and semi-fast trains and, after 50 years of being mothballed for the return of these trains, the councillors and officers are now to put a mixture of light rail and very light rail trams over a length of only 9km. Then 11km will be wasted with no passenger commuter trains.

I urge readers to write to the Black Country Director of Transport, Stuart Everton, asking for the full length of 20km to be used once more for commuter trains. His address is Black Country Director of Transport, 1st Floor Civic Centre, St Peter’s Square, Wolverhampton, WV1 1SH, or e-mail: Stuart.Everton@wolverhampton.gov.uk

Our nation has been stitched up

THE answer to why people have not yet mind up their mind to leave the EU is, to me, simple – millions of jobs.

The majority of our manufacturing industries are now owned by foreign multi-national companies, many with plants across Europe, and often with space capacity. If we voted to leave, the governments of Spain, Italy, and France for example, where employment is very high, would put pressure on the owners of these companies to move production to the continent, where they desperately need the jobs. Economically we would be defenceless.

Since we first became involved with the EU, four Prime Ministers have signed treaties taking us further down the road to full integration.

As a nation, we have been well and truly stitched up as this is not what we voted for under the first referendum organised by Edward Heath.

Hard facts needed not just supposition

HAVING read the Government booklet on why it believes remaining in the EU is the best decision, I cannot find one single statement that is backed up by hard facts. All this booklet contains is seven pages of photographs which have no relevance, supposition, guesswork and misinformation. What a waste of taxpayers’ money.

As regards Mark Carney’s comments on his prediction of possible economic collapse if we leave the EU, considering most, if not all, his economic predictions and forecasts since becoming Governor of the Bank of England have proved to be wrong why should anyone take any notice of what he says? Jeremy Corbyn seems to change his mind every month or so.

The EU consists of 28 different countries all having their own government, laws, culture, religion and language. Not only that but most pay vast sums of money to prop up a bureaucratic nightmare which imposes laws and regulations on those countries whose people have no say in what the EU MPs vote for.

What people want is information from both sides which can be backed up by facts not ifs, buts or maybes.

Get rid of Tories to save NHS

THE Brexit campaign is trying to scare us into thinking that leaving the EU is the only way to save the NHS, claiming that so many hospitals could be built and everything would suddenly be wonderful.

What rubbish! The cost of running the NHS involves far more than building hospitals. It requires a commitment beyond that which Brexit supporters envisage.

The NHS has reaped enormous benefits from being in the EU in terms of shared research and technology.

We need to face the fact that the only way we can be certain of funding the NHS for future generations is by increasing taxes.

This Tory government flatly refuses to consider increasing income tax. Therefore, the only way to save the NHS is by getting rid of this Tory government, not by leaving the EU.

Chance to give hotel in Wall Heath a new lease of life

A HOTEL in Wall Heath has been put on the market with new occupants being sought to 'maximise its potential'.

The budget hotel that traded as The Kingfisher ceased trading last year. However, Lex Allan estate agents say the 40-room site has received interest from potential buyers.

The building in Kidderminster Road, which is separate to the new Hickory Smokehouse restaurant and adjoining health spa, is estimated at a rental value of £65,000 per year.

Ian Appleby, commercial property surveyor at Lex Allan, said: "The hotel closed around six months ago. It was rented by the owners to a tenant who didn't succeed with the venture. Prior to this it was run by the current owners. New furnishings, carpets and redecoration has been done, hence the premium requested. It isn't connected to Hickory's Smoke House at all. We have had viewings and an offer and there continues to be interest."

A description on the website says that there are 40 en suite rooms.

The advertisement on Lex Allan's website states: "The premises are very well located on the edge of open countryside, yet affording easy access to the business centres of Wolverhampton and Dudley and further afield to Birmingham."

The hotel was situated behind the popular Kingfisher Club which was transformed into Hickory's Smokehouse last summer. The Kingfisher Country Club itself was built in the 1930s when it was known as the Kingfisher Lido, where it housed the only Olympic-sized swimming pool outside of London.

The former Kingfisher Hotel in Wall Heath has received lots of interest from potential new operators

College given £874k for artificial pitch

DUDLEY College has netted an £874,000 grant to help install a 3G artificial pitch at its Priory Road site.

The college secured the cash pot from the Premier League and the FA Facilities Fund. It will go towards the £1.3 million needed to create the new all-weather training complex. The Priory Road 3G Football Complex is due to open in September this year, a month after the start of the new football season.

College bosses said the facility, which will include changing rooms for players and officials as well as a stand for spectators, will be open for use by community and lower league teams as well as the college's own students.

Principal Lowell Williams said: "By working together with a range of partners, including the Premier League and The FA Facilities Fund, Dudley Council and Castle High School, we have been able to make the dream of a 3G pitch a reality."

"The college is keen this becomes a shared community resource and we are eager to hear from junior or senior clubs that would be interested in using it."

Robbery on bus lands three thugs in prison

A MOBILE phone has led to three thugs being sent to jail for between three-and-a-half and four-and-a-half years.

The trio struck on a bus travelling from the Merry Hill Shopping Centre in Brierley Hill to Birmingham, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

They surrounded a pair of teenagers, aged 15 and 16, who were sitting on the top deck.

Curtis Hendrickson, aged 26, Norman Corbett, 21, and Leo Connolly, 22 – all with previous convictions – had boarded the bus shortly after the two teens on January 2 last year.

Mr Ian Ball, prosecuting, said: "The three defendants engaged the lads in conversation before switching seats so that they were both in front and behind them.

"Corbett had brought a knife with him and this was used to reinforce the threats. They surrounded the lads and said: 'What have you got for me? What about a phone?'"

The teenagers both gave the gang their phones but one was rejected because it had a cracked screen.

The other victim refused to reveal the password for his mobile until the knife was pointed at him.

He later told police: "I was just happy not to be stabbed. It was only a phone and I cancelled the SIM card." But his friend conceded: "I was very scared and felt intimidated. I didn't know what they were going to do next."

The victims contacted the police who checked CCTV from the bus and recognised the culprits, who were arrested on various dates between April 22 and June 24 last year. Corbett and Hendrickson were already in custody for other offences when tracked down.

The defendants all had a significant number of previous convictions and, in the case of Corbett, these included eight robberies, some of which were carried out at knife-point on buses in carbon copies of the latest offence. Connolly was said to have mental issues caused by excessive drug use.

Connolly, of Langdale Road, Great Barr, and Hendrickson, of Hampton Road, Erdington, were each jailed for three-and-a-half years while Corbett, of Dingle Street, Oldbury, received a four-and-a-half year sentence. Each defendant admitted robbery and attempted robbery.

Recorder Abigail Nixon told them: "This was a terrifying offence against two lads who were minding their own business on a bus. You all played your part in intimidating them simply for a mobile phone."

Ex-police chief takes on £1,000 a day job

EX-WEST Midlands Chief Constable Chris Sims has taken up a top police job earning £1,000 a day.

Mr Sims, who retired in January with a pension believed to be worth around £150,000 per year, is now working as an adviser for the National Police Chiefs Council, the body for senior police officers. He will work two days a week at a rate of £1,000 a day – worth the equivalent of £260,000 pro rata or £125 per hour based on a normal working day.

As Chief Constable, he was paid £200,000 a year in salary and benefits and oversaw cuts of £125 million – with 1,300 officers losing their jobs.

A spokesman for the National Police Chiefs Council said: "Chris Sims is extremely well qualified to advise on important national work that aims to improve policing for the public. The changes will help police tackle new threats and improve the service for the public."

Mr Sims was contacted for comment.

Striking similarities with Dagenham show

Kathryn Trigg, centre, with Made in Dagenham cast members from the operatic society, Eileen Woolley and Tasheka Coe

WHEN the story of the Dagenham machinists whose strike led to the Equal Pay Act reached the Wolverhampton stage last week, behind the scenes was the story of a similar stand made by Black Country women.

Ticket secretary Kathryn Trigg stunned fellow members of the West Bromwich Operatic Society – performing one of the first amateur productions of Made in Dagenham at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre – by revealing she had been a real-life strike leader. In 1975 she led a group of shorthand typists out on strike at Bronx Engineering in Lye – and, just like the Dagenham women led by Rita O'Brien, they won.

Kathryn, 21 at the time, took on the role of union rep for the typing pool at Bronx. She said: "I wasn't militant, in fact I was quite timid but no one else wanted to do the job."

Union TASS suggested the shorthand typists push for equal pay.

"We deemed ourselves to be skilled workers because we'd gone to college for at least 12 months but we were paid a lot less than the men who were doing an equivalent job. We compared ourselves to a young lad in the drawing office who'd had one week's training and just operated the printing machine and kept it topped up with fluid, yet he was paid twice as much as we were.

"We met with the management and when we told them we wanted equal pay, they said 'no way'."

About 20 women, three-quarters of the typists, walked out. Three of them, including Kathryn, went to London to be interviewed by Dudley-born presenter Sue Lawley on national TV about their struggle.

In the end about a dozen more joined them on the picket line, including men, and the strike ended after a month with a new pay structure agreed.

Condition is all important for vintage clothes

ANTIQUES AND COLLECTIBLES

By John Ridgway of Perry & Phillips

VINTAGE clothes and accessories have been very popular for the past few years and people seem to be prepared to part with a considerable amount of cash to gain these items – but you don't have to spend a fortune if you keep your eye on your local sale-room catalogues!

Quite often vintage clothing, shoes, handbags, hats and powder compacts go under the hammer and it's worth putting in a bid as you may well come away with a bargain.

Condition is all important, anything prior to the 1920s should be carefully checked for signs of wear and tear and bear in mind also with Victorian and Edwardian pieces that they tend to be smaller than clothes worn today – and Victorian lace-up boots, though lovely, are difficult to find above a size five.

Be sure also that any vintage garment you consider buying should be fit to wear, some fabrics still look good but have become flimsy with age and – although they might look great on a hanger – just won't stand up to being worn and would usually be bought by a fashion collector.

And remember that vintage clothes will need to be well looked after, many won't survive a washing machine and should be hand-washed or even dry-cleaned.

Having said all that, good quality vintage clothes and accessories can be fun to wear and use – and prove a good investment!

Fifties clothes are especially popular, it seems, they do represent the elegance of the era and designer names to look out for include Balmain, Givenchy, Dior, Balenciaga and of course Chanel.

Obviously items with a 'name' sell for good prices – but as with everything on sale at auction it all depends on who is there on the day and bidding.

The older designer items will catch the eye of the collectors so you should be prepared to pay a little more if you aim to do auction battle with the experts!

Clothes made prior to the swinging sixties will usually be of a better quality, having been manufactured before the days of factory production.

However, the sixties and seventies styles have made a real comeback over the past few years, vintage clothes designer names of note include Biba, Yves St Laurent, Mary Quant, Zandra Rhodes, Laura Ashley, Ralph Lauren, Calvin Klein, Jean Muir and Halston.

The eighties saw a fashion revolution by the punks and the New Romantics, designer labels to look out for include Jean Paul Gaultier and of course Vivienne Westwood.

And we mustn't forget that the saleroom often offers vintage clothes and accessories for men as well as women!

You can find anything from Victorian top-hats and Edwardian cufflinks to 1940s and 1950s scarves and ties to sixties hats, suits and jackets and original punk rock tee-shirts.

So think about adding some vintage style to your wardrobe – and head off to the saleroom!

Perry and Phillips holds valuation days, for sale items only, every Wednesday from 10am until 4pm at its Mill Street saleroom in Low Town, Bridgnorth, and auctions of antiques and collectibles are held on the first Tuesday of each month.

Fashion now follows us right from birth

Some of Asda's children's range

A FRIEND'S daughter has just had a baby, the baby shower gifts brought clothing of all types and styles for the newborn, the birth added more to the ever growing wardrobe of the two-week old fashionista.

She has already grown out of most of the garments and the local charity shop has a rail of brand new baby items for sale at next to nothing prices, labels and all.

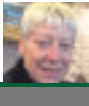

She is still left with a different outfit for everyday of the week, accessories galore and several garments suitable for the next six months, from the present giver who allowed for growth.

Surprising as it may be there are now fashion trends and new seasonal designer ranges for newborn to toddler and beyond.

Younger and younger models sport smaller versions of adult catwalk clothing, colour combined ranges of mix and match styles. There is effectively as much work in one of these tiny pieces as in the adult versions, just less fabric and more safety regulations (draw-cord length restriction, trim attachment and fire safety), amazing that the prices of the high street versions are such good value.

STYLE FOCUS

with Janet Timmis

For this spring and summer animal, nature, sea and coastline prints feature strongly and alongside the inevitable primary colours we will see soft watercolour effects and artist hand drawn designs. The newest colours feature French navy, soft blues, beige, cream, coffee and sandy tones.

Tropical

The designers are also trying to promote healthy eating by including fruit and vegetable prints on their clothing, this also shows in a strong tropical theme. You will see these promotional graphics appearing on packaging and bed linen as well as parents try to persuade their children to eat their 5 a day.

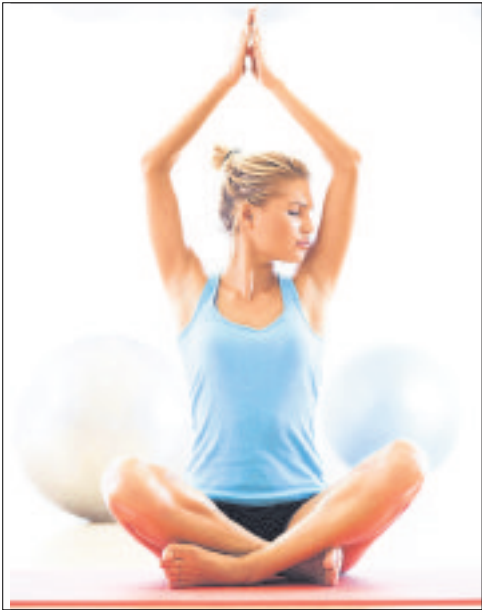

The shapes and styles are copied from adult trends with mothers and daughters and fathers and sons in the same outfits...are we seeing a return to the 1960's/1970's family group in their matching hand knitted cardigans? It seems more that the children aspire to their parent's style.

There is still plenty of Disney and TV character inspired garments around but take note of the accessories, scarves, belts, sunglasses, hats, hair flowers, shoes, jewellery and bags, all designed to mix and match and complete a look. Do our children really need sunglasses and shoes to match every outfit...it seems they do! While walking around the retailers to look what's on offer I notice the children's sections are growing taking over at least a third of the sales floor, often more, I also find myself loving the products on offer and musing over who I know that I can buy for. The 'Ahhhhhh' factor has caught us all.

The large supermarket chains offer some fabulous children's clothing at great prices and cover ages from newborn to teenager. No more hand-me-downs, unless of course your older sister has a dress you really, really want.

Yoga can help if you suffer from anxiety or asthma

Yoga can also help with arthritis and mobility problems

List grows longer for merits of regular yoga

Regular yoga has many health benefits

WE all know yoga is a great form of exercise, but did you know it can help cure numerous conditions? Here we take a closer look at the benefits.

Devotees have long championed the endless powers of yoga for soothing both body and mind – and the list of ailments the ancient practice can ease has officially just got longer.

So if you don't already start the day with a sun salutation, you might want to start, especially if you have asthma, as researchers at the Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) have just found that yoga could improve quality of life for people who suffer with the respiratory condition.

The team, who reviewed results from 15 studies around the world, noted how yoga breathing exercises and poses are thought to help expand the chest, as well as relaxing muscles in the airways.

On top of that, the meditative element of yoga practice also reduces anxiety, which asthma can trigger, and boosts mood.

But it's not just people with asthma who could benefit.

Here are some of the other common complaints that could be soothed by regular yoga...

By Kate Whiting

ARTHRITIS

People who suffer from arthritis find certain forms of modified yoga can gently help to increase flexibility and strength. A study of the impact of yoga on people with osteoarthritis in their knees by Sharon Kolinski, MD, a professor of clinical medicine and a rheumatologist at the University of Pennsylvania, found that weekly 90-minute, modified Iyengar yoga classes reduced pain and stiffness in joints and improved physical function after eight weeks. The NHS recommends finding a teacher who understands arthritis and can adapt the yoga poses for your needs.

PREVENTION OF FALLS

Older people are more likely to suffer injuries, such as bone fractures, as the result of a fall, with around one in three over the age of 65 said to suffer at least one fall a year. But research has shown that exercises like yoga and Tai Chi can improve balance, by strengthening muscles in the legs, ankles and knees. This can lower the risk of falls, and injury rates.

BACK PAIN

Postures like the Cat and Downward Dog, when done everyday, can help to soothe mild back pain by gently stretching the spine and easing muscle tension. But make sure you see a doctor if you have acute back pain, and tell your yoga teacher about any complaints before you start.

BLOOD PRESSURE AND HEART DISEASE

In a 2009 trial of people who did Iyengar yoga for three months, researchers at the University of Pennsylvania found that high blood pressure, which is connected with an increased risk of stroke and cardiovascular disease, was reduced. Cardiologist Dr Dean Ornish led a study in 1990 which showed that coronary artery disease could be reversed, without the need for drugs, through a combination of diet, exercise and lifestyle changes – with yoga cited for its stress reduction benefits.

BEING OVERWEIGHT

Yoga might look gentle but it's actually very effective exercise.

Plus, because it helps reduce stress and bolsters moods, it could help in addressing compulsive and emotional eating patterns.

The British Wheel Of Yoga's Paul Fox told the Daily Mail: "GPs now refer patients to yoga for weight loss. Most people are obese because of their relationship with food."

"Yoga builds body awareness and can help people deal with stress and other emotional problems that may be causing them to overeat."

On the right track with memorabilia from trains

ANTIQUES AND COLLECTIBLES

By John Ridgway of Perry & Phillips

A NUMBER of people contact our saleroom to ask if railway ephemera is collectible and the answer is a resounding yes!

It always has been and continues to be – particularly at the Perry and Phillips saleroom – because we have the Severn Valley Railway right here in town and therefore many rail enthusiasts living locally, all of whom are keen collectors and extremely knowledgeable.

Railway memorabilia ranges from small items like tickets, photographs, postcards, posters, whistles and timetables to larger pieces such as name plates, signs and even signalling equipment, ticket machines and platform benches.

The list is extensive, also look out for maps, notices, radios, lanterns and wall plaques, plus any books written by vintage rail experts and journals, and buttons and badges.

Vintage photographs in particular are valuable, especially if they are accompanied by details about a specific journey and a date.

Anything bearing a recognised 'name' will attract the collectors, from dining car menus to napkins and even plates and silverware – we sold some Great Western Railway silver-plated meat servers a few years ago!

The nineteenth century really was the golden age of the train, with rail companies springing up all over Britain, and names of rail lines to look out for run into hundreds.

Enthusiasts will pay a good deal of money for nostalgic souvenirs of this era, several years ago a man in Torquay saw his vast collection of rail memorabilia sell for thousands of pounds at auction (but he had collected thousands of items!).

Amongst pieces he had amassed over the years were a brass plate for a steam engine, a cast iron and copper steam locomotive chimney pot, restaurant car cutlery, brass cap badges, signalmen's uniforms, a station master's oak desk, a brass whistle, brass locks for carriage doors, ticket collectors' punches, timetables and station signage, including one for the gentlemen's lavatory.

Station clocks can sell for hundreds of pounds, especially if they feature specific names, and both clocks and other items relating to station hotels are also on the collectors' wishlist.

Certain experts only collect items associated with a particular train, company or rail line and anything dating back to either of the two world wars will be especially of interest.

Of course regional railway memorabilia will always attract most attention when sold in its own locality, hence the popularity of the Severn Valley Railway pieces we see in the Perry and Phillips saleroom – and it is bought by non-enthusiasts also as reminders of the station's essential role in the town's history.

As with all antiques and collectables, always check condition before you buy but don't be afraid of a little restoration work if it's necessary, it will be worth the effort!

Perry & Phillips holds valuation days, for sale items only, every Wednesday from 10am until 4pm at its Mill Street saleroom in Low Town, Bridgnorth, and auctions of antiques and collectibles are held on the first Tuesday of each month.

Festival fashion is floral, fun and comfortable

Time to get the festival look

FESTIVAL season is here! The music festival can be traced back to Ancient Greece and the 10th Century BC.

Today it is likely that a large majority of us will visit an outdoor music event, big or small, sometimes travelling to other countries to see the artists we love.

We all hear about Glastonbury and its headliners and specialist stages catering for every genre of music and every year we see new clothing styles defining the new ideas, alternative, cultural and spiritual, 'Woodstock' is said to have changed history.

The shorts, hair flowers, T-shirts and wellies (of course) are the staple items but each year the artists and bands bring new inspirational looks.

Coachella Festival, near Palm Springs in the USA is the leader in style, every year the event, sponsored by H&M, attract the great, the good, the celebrity and the fashionista.

It gives them the excuse to dress to express themselves, quirky and unusual, the photo opportunity expectation.

This year has seen space age looks, metallic fabrics, coloured hair (a staple for any festival), long floaty gypsy dresses, handkerchief skirts and gladiator sandals, after all they can almost guarantee good weather.

The rules should be, NO RULES.

Dress to be comfortable, the importance is to enjoy the time listening to the music, playtime with friends, a summer picnic.....no one will be judging what you wear.

Sunglasses

Wear what suits the day, the varied, delightful, unpredictable English weather, it could be wet, cold, sunny or hot, you will need those wellies and the large bag with the sun cream, umbrella, wet wipes, bottle of water, sunglasses, a fleece and a hat, the picnic basket filled with scrummy delights and blanket to relax on.....every opportunity to make a statement!

Shropshire hosts some great events to visit, Farmer Phils Music Festival near Shrewsbury, Bridgnorth Music and Arts and Joles Rock and Bowl at the Market Drayton Picnic area 'The biggest little festival', established in 2009 and going strong.

High street store or charity shop vintage, the choice is yours.

Find some florals and mix them with some more, wear shorts under a lightweight skirt and a baggy T-shirt tied at the hem, a denim jacket, baggy or neat fit....top off with a straw hat and if you can only find a wedding tifter, take off the fussy trim and wrap a scarf around the brim.

Welly boots now come in all sorts of designs to suit every personality and pocket and thank goodness for the trendy tote bag to load all our necessities.

So book your tickets, find something you love to wear and have a whale of a time this summer.

By 2030, the number of people aged over 60 will rise to 24 per cent

More than half of the over 75s live alone, according to the Office for National Statistics

Beating loneliness can also bring health boost

Everyone can feel lonely at some point

THE good news is we're all living longer. But the bad news is, we're more likely to experience loneliness and isolation as we get older – which can seriously affect our health.

A recent review by British scientists, which looked at 181,000 people, found that, for those who were lonely and isolated, the risk of heart disease was raised by 29 per cent and stroke by 32 per cent.

The scientists from York, Liverpool and Newcastle universities wrote in the medical journal Heart: "We found an association between poor social relationships and incident cardiovascular disease comparable in size to other recognised psychosocial risk factors, such as anxiety and job strain."

Why are older people more lonely?

The Campaign to End Loneliness (www.campaigntoendloneliness.org) says there are greater 'risk factors' for loneliness in older age, such as retirement, bereavement, hearing or sight loss, decreased mobility and lower incomes.

More than half of the over 75s live alone, according to the Office for National Statistics, with almost five million people saying their main form of company is TV.

By Kate Whiting

By 2030, the number of people aged over 60 will rise to 24 per cent. In the next 20 years, the population of those aged over 80 will treble and those over 90 will double, according to the Campaign.

How can you future-proof against loneliness?

Whether you're six or 66, everyone can feel lonely at some point. And the emotion can last for a day, or be much longer term.

The Campaign to End Loneliness has the following advice for feeling healthy and happy:

1. Think about yourself
Think about what you would like more of - maybe time with friends or family, if so invite them to visit.

Often if you are lonely, you think people do not want to visit. This is understandable, but often people will respond to an invitation and will come and spend quality time with you.

2. Look after yourself
If you can do something to improve your health, take small steps to eat well, take gentle exercise and keep active, all of these things can help you to relax more fully in your own company.

3. Share your skills and time with others
You can offer time or specific skills by

Loneliness can seriously affect health helping out in your street, neighbourhood or with local organisations. You could volunteer with the Royal Voluntary Service, Sense or Independent Age who support older people.

4. Your community and neighbourhood
Find out what local activities are being planned and book them up: walks, singing groups, book clubs and bridge.

For example, Contact the Elderly and the University of the Third Age have a wide range of local social groups and activities across the UK.

Farage stops off on Brexit battle bus

UKIP leader Nigel Farage during his walkabout in Dudley town centre after his Brexit battle bus rolled in NIGEL Farage accused David Cameron and George Osborne of peddling 'a constant diet of lies' over the European Union referendum.

The UKIP leader was greeted by hundreds as he was driven into the town centre on the party's purple open-top Brexit battle bus - dubbed the giant aubergine. Many held placards bearing the words: 'We want our country back' and cheered loudly when the bus pulled into Market Place.

The theme tune from The Great Escape blasted out as Mr Farage addressed the cheering throng from the top of the bus against a backdrop of the Black Country flag.

He said: "Our politicians have given away control of our country. I'm beginning to think Brussels isn't the enemy. "The real enemy is our political class, backed up with the multi-national companies and the big banks and the constant diet of lies we get from Osborne and Cameron."

Crime suspects deported

NEARLY 500 suspected criminals living in the West Midlands have been deported to face charges in other European countries in the past six years, new figures show.

Data released by the Home Office shows 495 suspected criminals have been extradited from the region since 2010 using the European Arrest Warrant.

Over the same period, 54 suspects were snared in Europe and brought back to the West Midlands - including some of Britain's most-wanted fugitives. The West Midlands force accounted for the bulk of the arrests, with 323 suspects deported.

The group included Polish national Grzegorz Badura, who was arrested in West Bromwich in November 2015 having been on the run for more than a year. He was sent back to Poland to serve the remainder of a sentence for fraud.

The force extradited 23 suspected crooks back to the UK. West Midlands Police said it could not comment on a political issue so close to the EU referendum.

The EU-wide warrant allows police forces across Europe to easily bring suspects who go on the run back to face trial in the UK. Use of the European Arrest Warrant has been a key part of pro-Europe arguments in the run up to the in/out vote.

Sir Hugh Orde, former president of the Association of Chief Police Officers, said: "The European Arrest Warrant also means we can easily deport dangerous criminals back to other countries."

Reg Malpas from Amblecote with the original plaque unveiled by the Duke of Gloucester

Monorail engineer didn't Welsh on bet with cheeky singers

THE only mechanical engineer for the short-lived but well remembered Merry Hill monorail has told how a cheeky set of customers once blew him away with a magnificent musical performance.

Trying to cadge a free ride on the monorail, the Welsh chaps bet Reg Malpas they could wow him with their music, before belting out a sensational rendition. The lads just so happened to be the Welsh Male Voice Choir.

June 1 marks the 25th anniversary since the opening of the monorail, and Mr Malpas, aged 65, shared his tales of working on it throughout its operation from 1991-96.

He said of his musical encounter: "One day this bunch of Welsh lads wanted a free ride. They said 'can we pay with a song'. I thought they were having me on so I said 'go on then lets hear it'."

"Then they sang this beautiful song, it blew me away, it was amazing. It turned out they were only the Welsh Male Voice Choir. I couldn't believe it."

Construction of the £22 million elevated monorail took place alongside the final phase of the Merry Hill Shopping Centre in 1988-89, but due to safety concerns, didn't until over a year and a half after the completion of the centre.

Four stations were built, named Water-front East, Grand Central, Times Square (for the bus station) and Boulevard. Mr Malpas believes it was a wonderful piece of machinery, and a great attraction for Dudley.

Smooth

He said: "The monorail really was a fantastic piece of equipment. I think the only other one in the UK at the time was at Alton Towers. It was so smooth, not like transport nowadays."

"It was very safe. I hadn't worked on anything like it before, but even though I was the only mechanical engineer, it was very safe. If anything went wrong it would just pull up, the brakes would go straight on."

Mr Malpas couldn't believe he was trusted with the responsibility on his own for the maintenance of the monorail, but enjoyed his five years.

He said: "I was qualified as an engineer, but was working at the Merry Hill centre as a security guard. I saw the advert for the job, applied for it never thinking I'd get it, but I did. Then I was trained up and worked for the whole time it was running."

"I had a really good time, very happy memories."

"I'd have a carriage in the shed. I'd have to make checks all the way through it, from front to back, making sure everything was working properly, the brakes and what have you. Then I'd sort out anything that needed mending or replacing. Then when I'd finish one carriage, I'd have another in the shed and it went on like that."

The monorail was temporarily closed in 1992, but ran sporadically until 96, when it was closed and put up for sale. The trains and track were bought by Oasis Shopping Centre, in Broadbeach, Queensland, Australia.

Mr Malpas said: "It's still in use today which shows how advanced it must have been for us to have it all those years ago."

Garages targeted in early morning thefts

Bett's Motor Services owner Robert Bettis, whose garage in Netherton was ransacked by thieves

THIEVES stole thousands of pounds worth of equipment after ransacking two commercial garages in Netherton and using a forklift truck to move machinery.

Tools and machinery worth up to £5,000 were taken from Bett's Motor Services after thieves broke in through the roof. In a separate incident on the same night, the forklift was used to steal £1,000 worth of equipment from JCG Auto's garage in Cradley Heath, causing about £15,000 worth of damage.

Police do not believe the burglaries were linked.

Robert Bett, owner of Bett's Motor Service, said diagnostics machinery and impact guns were among the equipment stolen from his firm during the raid on May 17.

He said: "I reckon they stole around £3,000 to £5,000 worth of equipment."

His alarm had activated in the early hours but the thieves had already fled by the time he reached the garage. The burglary at JCG Autos garage happened around 4am.

West Midlands Police said officers were investigating.

Talks over pension law change to save jobs

THE Government is launching a consultation on changes to pensions law as part of its efforts to save Indian group Tata's UK steel business.

The firm has been under threat since Tata revealed that it was looking to sell or even close the loss-making operation, which employs 11,000 people in the UK including about 750 in the Black Country.

By Simon Penfold

Business Secretary Sajid Javid unveiled the plan to MPs just hours after returning from Mumbai where he met executives of the Indian conglomerate.

Benefits

The suggested change includes cutting the British Steel Pension Fund's long-term liabilities by benchmarking it to the consumer price index rather than the higher retail price index.

The move could save £2.5bn, but would reduce benefits to those receiving pensions.

The British Steel pension scheme has 130,000 members and assets of £13.3bn, but its deficit has grown to nearly £700 million.

Mr Javid said the consultation on the scheme was designed to provide clarity and security for members. He said the pension scheme's trustees believed almost every member would be 'better off or no worse off' under the proposed changes.

The steel unions are waiting to see details of the consultation.

Former pensions minister in the coalition, Liberal Democrat Steve Webb, director of policy at pensions firm Royal London, has warned that the Government is "going down a very dangerous path" in seeking to change the law.

Meanwhile, Mr Javid has also been talking to Tata Steel's bosses about the sale of its UK business. Seven potential bidders have come forward.

Attraction earmarks £18m masterplan Public to get a say on museum's next phase

BOSSES want the public's opinion on an £18 million masterplan for the future of the Black Country Living Museum after revealing more details about the attraction's future.

The museum in Tipton Road, Dudley, attracts around 300,000 visitors a year but chiefs are hoping to increase the amount to half a million as part of a 10-year forward plan.

The plans will see 60 new jobs created.

Bosses need are currently seeking funding for the ambitious development, which could include moving the site's entrance from Tipton Road to Castle Hill.

Chief executive Andrew Lovett said the change would link the venue to Castle Hill, providing visitors with one shared arrival point to Dudley's four attractions - Dudley Zoo, Dudley Archives, Dudley Canal Trips and the museum.

1960s

Further proposals include a new visitor centre, exhibition space to display more of the museum's collection, conference, retail and café facilities.

Visitors, who are being urged to have their say using an online survey, would also emerge from the new visitor centre into a bustling 1940s to 1960s town featuring a library, more shops and restaurants, including a corner pub, houses and a bowling green.

Mr Lovett said: "There's a great opportunity to fulfil the museum's potential."

"At the moment on the site we don't really tell the story of the Black Country beyond about 1938 or so."

"One of the things that's driving us is the drive to complete that story and take people into the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s.

"We think this is an opportunity to complement all the investment that's gone into the Castle Hill area."

A 1940s to 1960s area would include spaces for hire and even holiday accommodation while plans for a nearby manufacturing zone would feature brick making and metal working areas.

The masterplan would see the museum's tramway extended to connect the developments, looping through the site in a figure-of-eight.

The Rolfe Street entrance would be transformed into a learning centre for school visits.

Former Frankie Goes to Hollywood star Holly Johnson in action

Easy as ABC for fabulous fun from 80s

Tiffany, who will be performing at the country park

ABC's Martin Fry, with guitarist Matt Backer, watched by a huge crowd. The band has a new single out, Viva Love

COMMERCIAL FEATURE

LET'S Rock Birmingham!
The Retro Festival takes place on Saturday June 11 at Sandwell Valley Country Park.

With a fabulous line-up of artists to bring you the very best of the 80s, and an action packed day of general 80s madness – there is plenty to do for everyone at this family friendly festival.

The confirmed acts are Holly Johnson, Kim Wilde, Jimmy Somerville, ABC, Midge Ure, Go West, Nick Heyward, Five Star, Altered Images, Dr and the Medics, and Brother Beyond. Tiffany also returns to the UK stage, making her first appearance here in many years.

Let's Rock Birmingham! is aimed at the whole family. Children can enjoy a huge amount of stuff to keep them occupied, including circus workshops with the Bigtop-mania Circus, face painting, crafts, tricycles and the 'Disco Shack'!

There will be a super funfair as well as children's entertainers, meaning Let's Rock Birmingham! offers the perfect day out for all the family. There will also be multiple bars, plus a wide range of quality food outlets selling food from around the world.

VIP tickets allow access to a funky 80s-themed VIP enclosure, where you can sit back and relax in the comfy chill out zone or enjoy the outdoor seating area.

The VIP enclosure includes a full bar serving quality brands and 80s cocktails, plus of course the all important VIP luxury loos – essential at any festival!

VIP tickets include entry to the festival plus a souvenir programme, meal and welcome drink. Let's Rock! has been leading the way for quality, action-packed, family-friendly 80s music festivals since 2009.

Don't miss out on this chance for a retro blast from the past with the very best of the 80s. For further information and to book tickets, go to www.letsrockbirmingham.com

Hilarity for charity at Grand night out

WOLVERHAMPTON'S own comedy group Pappy's, stars of TV series Badults, are among a stellar line-up of comics performing at the Hilarity Charity Gala 2016.

Comedy sketch trio Pappy's are Matthew Crosby, Ben Clark and Tom Parry, with Ben and Tom both being former members of Central Youth Theatre.

The trio have enjoyed four years of sell-out shows at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe and were Chortle Award winners in 2008 and 2013.

They found national fame with their BBC3 series Badults, which is now available on Netflix, an anarchic comedy about the misadventures of three flatmates.

Podcast

Pappy's also have a popular podcast called Bangers And Mash available via their www.pappyscomedy.com website.

Central Youth Theatre is hosting its third Hilarity Charity Gala at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre on Monday when a host of comedians, many familiar from top TV shows, present a rib-tickling night to raise money for the theatre group.

The line-up includes Birmingham stand-up Joe Lycett from 8 out of 10 Cats, Live at the Apollo, Never Mind the Buzzcocks and Celebrity Juice. Joe is a former Chortle Student Comedian of the Year and has been a guest for Scott Mills, Greg James and

Home gig in Wolverhampton for Pappy's comedy group as part of the Hilarity Gala

Nick Grimshaw on BBC Radio 1 and one of Radio 4's Just A Minute panel.

Also performing will be Adam Riches from Horrible Histories and The Detectorists; Nish Kumar from Have I Got News For You and Russell Howard's Stand Up Central; Spencer Jones of sit-com Upstart Crow; Ivo Graham of BBC Radio 5 Live's Fight- ing Talk and ITV's Elevenish; and the evening will again be compered by Perrier award winner Daniel Kitson.

This year's gala is aiming to raise funds for the group's move into a new home in the former Co-Operative building opposite the Grand in Lichfield Street. Tickets are priced £17.50 and £22.50. Call 01902 429212.

Clare and all that jazz

AWARD-WINNING jazz singer, Radio 2 presenter and former Wolverhampton student Clare Teal will be accompanied by her 16-piece Hollywood Orchestra, led by top arranger and trumpeter Guy Barker, in concert at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre on Sunday.

The UK's Queen of Swing will present Twelve O'Clock Tales, based around her latest album, because she says every song has a tale to tell, and as the midnight hour falls so do barriers to innermost thoughts and desires.

Her repertoire will include classics from the Great American and British Songbooks with music from Cole Porter, Billy Strayhorn, Rodgers and Hammerstein to Tim Rice and Sting.

Clare became a familiar voice on radio as presenter of BBC Radio 2's Big Band Special. The Skipton lass discovered jazz via her grandmother's record collection and studied music at Wolverhampton Polytechnic (now university) before entering show business singing jingles. She has been associated with Big Band Special for 12 years.

Talking about her new album Twelve O'Clock Tales, which features the prestigious Hallé Orchestra, Clare said: "This is our most ambitious project to date and being accompanied by the Hallé is an absolute privilege. To be in a room surrounded by 93 incredibly talented musicians wondrously lifting these stunning arrangements right off the page before your eyes makes for a great day out – to actually then add your own voice to the story is a dream come true."

"We're thrilled to be releasing Twelve O'Clock Tales on our own label. It's truly liberating to be in control of what you want to record."

Tickets for Sunday's Grand concert range from £18 to £28. See www.grandtheatre.co.uk or call 01902 429212.

'This is our most ambitious project to date'

One night only in concert line-up

THERE is a star-studded line-up for a series of one night concerts at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre (also see above).

Tonight (Thursday) the nation's Nancy, Oliver! star Jodie Prenger, is searching for romance in New York in Andrew Lloyd Webber and Don Black's Tell Me On A Sunday. Soul Legends on Friday features guest George 'Rock Your Baby' McCrae then 'People's Tenor' Russell Watson is in concert on Saturday. Clive John conjures 'the Man in Black' in the Johnny Cash Roadshow on Tuesday. Comedian Stu Francis, singer Maggie O'Hara and Steve Barclay as Max Miller are in Music Hall Memories on Wednesday.

Opera celebrates with Cav and Pag

WELSH National Opera is making a return visit to Birmingham Hippodrome to celebrate its 70th birthday with the classics Cavalleria rusticana and Pagliacci.

The double bill of Cav & Pag, sung in Italian with English surtitles, will be at the Hippodrome on Thursday and Saturday, June 9 and 11. Each opera packs lots of drama and powerful music into just over an hour.

On Friday, June 10, WNO perform In Parenthesis, British composer Iain Bell's adaptation of the epic poem by David Jones about First World War soldiers who enter a magical world amid the horrors of the Somme.

Singer Corinne's creative rebirth

CORINNE Bailey Rae was worried about not bringing out a record in six years. "I think you have to remind fans of who you are, no matter the length of gap," she says. "But I do feel really lucky the people who follow my music have kept in touch. I feel like there's still a good connection there."

Sophisticated new record The Heart Speaks in Whispers charts Bailey Rae's creative and personal rebirth following the death in 2008 of her husband, saxophonist Jason Rae.

She plays Birmingham Barclaycard Arena on July 7 as support to Lionel Richie before V Festival in August.

Griff Rhys Jones

All New It'll Be Alright on the Night (ITV, 9pm)
Griff Rhys Jones returns to showcase another selection of hilarious film and TV outtakes rescued from the cutting-room. Among the stars whose gaffes are highlighted in this edition are Elton John, David Beckham and Ricky Gervais, and fumbled takes from the sets of Coronation Street, Mr Selfridge and EastEnders also make an appearance. Plus, mistakes from The One Show demonstrate the perils of live TV, and Jeremy Kyle has a painful encounter with a stray camera.

FRIDAY

Back to the Future Part III, ITV, 11pm

Time-travelling teenager Marty McFly is transported back to the days of the Wild West, where he strives to save his eccentric scientist friend Doc Brown from death at the hands of a villainous gunslinger. Final instalment in the sci-fi comedy trilogy, starring Michael J Fox, Christopher Lloyd, Mary Steenburgen and Thomas F Wilson. (1990)

The home nation will hope to be on the ball

It's finally time for the big kick-off, as it is customary the host nation gets proceedings under way tonight at the Stade de France.

If you thought that the pressure was high on this side of the Channel, spare a thought for Didier Deschamps French side who go into the tournament as favourites and with the hopes of an expectant nation on their shoulders.

The signs look good though – over the years, the hosts tend to perform well at the Euros, and the French have been victorious in each of the last two major tournaments that they have hosted, winning the European Championships back in 1984 and the World Cup in 1998.

Their current side is strong defensively, formidable in midfield with Paul Pogba, and rife with speedy attacking options.

The one thing they are perhaps missing is a true No.9, as Karim Benzema is suspended from international play.

One of France's greatest ever players, Thierry Henry, is confident that the hosts will be at the national stadium in Paris when the winner is decided in exactly one month's time.

He told Sky Sports: "This is the big one for us. This is the big one for Deschamps and the big one for the team."

"We all know it is not easy to win a tournament at home, but we have done it twice. "We have won the Euros in 1984 and the World Cup in 1998 so we have a history of usually winning it when we have the tournament at home."

"France has a good team. The only thing I will say is we haven't played an official game for a long time, so that might be the question mark about the team at the moment."

"I think we have a great team and I'm not saying that because I am French, but I do think they have one of the best teams in Europe."

"I'll tip them to win and I hope they will."

First up for Les Bleus, who also triumphed at Euro 2000 in the Netherlands and Belgium, are Group A rivals Romania.

The Tricolorii were defensively the best team in qualifying, conceding just two goals, but they were also the least prolific team that qualified, scoring just 11, so the French may have their work cut out breaking down their opponents this evening.

The tournament itself has been expanded to 24 teams this year, with matches taking place in 10 different host cities.

As far as the TV coverage goes, the BBC and ITV have split it down the middle once again.

Mark Pougatch has proven to be good replacement for previous ITV anchor Adrian Chiles, and the broadcaster has gone all out with its French theme for the Euros.

Promotional work has been done by Eric Cantona, while Emmanuel Petit, Christian Karembeu and Louis Saha have all joined the punditry team.

Ian Wright is also on the team, along with West Ham boss Slaven Bilic.

There is also a return to commentary on ITV for Andy Townsend after a year-long absence.

France take on Romania in Euro 2016, Friday, ITV, 7.15pm

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Reg

BBC1, 9pm

Jimmy McGovern is the writer who brought us the powerful dramas Hillsborough and Sunday, which was based on the events of Bloody Sunday. Now, he's tackling another real-life story, that of Reg Keys (Tim Roth), who in 2003 received the devastating news that his son Tom had been killed in Iraq. As his wife Sally (Anna Maxwell Martin) struggles with her grief, Reg tries to make sense of what has happened, and discovers that three weeks prior to Tom's death, the army had ordered a scale-down in weapons and communications. Convinced this was a mistake on the military's part, Reg makes the decision to stand as an independent candidate in opposition to the Iraq War in the next General Election – and he's going to do it in the constituency of Sedgefield, where he will be running against Prime Minister Tony Blair.

TUESDAY

Big Brother: Live Launch

Channel 5, 9pm

Emma Willis ushers in another diverse group of fame-seeking individuals who have been chosen to spend their summer invading the nation's living rooms. This year, the house has been made over into a stark monochrome world. However, while everything may appear black and white, the new residents will not be alone – they will be under attack from a dark, unseen force designed to have a divisive effect on the entire housemates as they fall victim to paranoia and suspicion.

WEDNESDAY

Power Monkeys

Channel 4, 10pm

New series. Spin-off from the highly acclaimed comedy series Ballot Monkeys, following both sides of the EU referendum, along with prominent international politicians on Donald Trump's campaign plane and inside Vladimir Putin's Presidential office. Creators Andy Hamilton and Guy Jenkin highlight the follies and foibles of contemporary politics, writing much of the show in the hours leading up to transmission.

THURSDAY

DIY SOS: The Big Build

BBC1, 8pm

Let's face it, this occasional series holds few surprises these days. Each edition is basically the same – a family struggling to cope in difficult circumstances has their living environment (and possibly their very existence) transformed by Nick Knowles and his team of property experts, with help from the local community. Despite this lack of diversity, viewers always end up shedding buckets of tears at the end – and it's this emotional impact that keeps us coming back for more. In recent months, there have been variations on the theme, with Princes William and Harry getting involved in creating new homes for war veterans, but we're expecting this edition to play out as usual. So, don't forget those handkerchiefs!

Big Brother: Live Launch, Tuesday, Channel 5, 9pm

New Blood

BBC1, 9pm

Anthony Horowitz's writing career has been one of mostly outstanding success, so when it was revealed that he was penning a new seven-part drama for the BBC, critics and fans alike couldn't wait to see the results. The creator of Alex Rider and Foyle's War tells the story of trainee detective Rash Sayyad and Stefan Kowolski, a junior case worker at the Serious Fraud Office. They are thrown together by the discovery of the corpse of Mark Henson, one of a group of medical guinea pigs, and an investigation into David Leese.

FRIDAY

The Millionaire's Holiday Club

BBC2, 9pm

Imagine going on holiday to some of the most exclusive destinations money can buy? This two-part documentary goes away with millionaire clients on made-to-measure holidays and takes a behind-the-scenes at a luxury travel agents and their extraordinary efforts to try and provide seven-star holidays. We meet party girl Jane, who since selling her business 12 years ago, has decided to spend the rest of her days on holiday with partner Michael. The couple went on 12 in 2015, and begin this year with a sumptuous Christmas cruise around the Caribbean. Mervyn and Heather, on the other hand, just want a quiet life. Working all year on their Somerset fruit farm, they dream of 10 precious days away sitting on the beach and doing nothing during a stay at one of the most prestigious hotels in Jamaica. But this year is different.

Watch the water on the iconic 10th hole on The Brabazon

Time to relax at the well-stocked Brabazon Bar

Just as grand as it looks with beautifully-kept gardens

Enjoy the spa Fire and Ice Experience

This award-winning family resort is par excellence – and not just for golf

AS a novice golfer I can't pretend that I did not feel humbled as we made our way up the sweeping driveway to the famous Belfry Hotel & Resort.

With championship golf courses and several tourist awards I knew we were in for a treat. With just a few golf lessons under my belt – so no Rory McIlroy – I was way out of my depth. But there was no way I was going to miss the chance to say that I had actually played at the Belfry. Of course it is not just golf that would attract you to this superb hotel at Wishaw, Sutton Coldfield, its tourism awards are well earned.

Do not be intimidated by its name and reputation, grand as it is, it has a knack of making you feel right at home. My husband and I arrived one Friday afternoon and after looking around realised just how much this holiday resort has to offer.

Of course there is the world-famous golf –

more of that later – but there is so much more to attract the whole family. There are no shortage of activities and places to eat for the young ones and a nightclub across the drive for the slightly older ones. For the woman in your life – and the sport is becoming more popular with the fairer sex – there is also the spa. You must treat yourself to a champagne tea, the ultimate in luxury. Our charming waiter James supplied us with a wonderful tiered stand full of sandwiches and cakes – it was like being at the Ritz.

We were saving the golf until the following morning so on the Friday we headed for the relaxing spa with the Fire and Ice Experience – 90 minutes of sheer bliss and if you are brave enough the ice cold bucket experience. He did, I didn't and I was quite glad after seeing the shocked look on his face.

Totally relaxed, we sat on the balcony and watched as the more experienced golfers tackle the 18th hole on the PGA course. It was easy to relax in the sumptuous room – the lady on reception said we would go 'wow' when we saw it and she was not wrong. The bedroom area was huge with a large en suite and dressing area and adjoining living room. Then, to step out onto the huge veranda with the lovely views – this is the life!

Nightclub

Time to settle there with a glass of wine and watch the others tackle the course and maybe get some tips for the morning. Relaxed and changed we headed off to the Ryder Grill restaurant for a delicious a la carte meal and I could forget the calories as I would work them off on the course the next morning.

Afterwards, if you fancy strutting your stuff, just pop across to the very popular Bel Air Nightclub & Lounge. Entrance is included in many weekend packages. Then after breakfast that was it – what I was waiting for. We headed out to the Derby golf course, the only one of the three where you don't need to have a handicap. As I explained when booking my only handicap was that I couldn't play!

There is also a driving range if you want to try out your skills first. For the little ones there is a small course that replicates some of the famous holes – like the one at Kiawah Island from the 1991 Ryder Cup.

The site has three full courses: The Brabazon, Ryder Cup in 1985, 1989, 1993 and 2002, PGA National, another for experienced players only and the third course The Derby the one we played.

It is available to all standards of players and is roughly 1,000 yards shorter than the other two. Even so, the full 18 holes are a big test of skills and stamina but we did both manage a par on one of the holes. I have not stopped raving about it since!

The Belfry has been nominated for three awards at the World Travel Awards 2016, having been crowned as England's Leading Resort last year. So if you are looking to get away with the family you can't go wrong.

Vauxhall returns for reunion

A 1923 Vauxhall 23/60 made its first long journey after an 18-month mechanical restoration to be reunited with three generations of the previous owner's family at Vauxhall Motors' Heritage Centre in Luton.

Known as Alice, the vintage Vauxhall is now thought to be the most original of the around 90 surviving 23/60s from a total production of 1,300 made at the famous Kimpton Road factory between 1922 and 1926.

Kay Lorenzato, whose late husband owned the car from the 1950s, was delighted to see it for the first time after its inaugural, post-resto drive from Leicestershire to the last Vauxhall Bedford Owners' Association meeting. Her husband, she said, would have been "proud to see Alice on the road again" after he'd shared so many experiences with the car during the 1950s and 60s.

And Raymond Lorenzato certainly used the car extensively. A Grimsel Pass sticker on the windscreen and three tickets from a cinema in Lucerne found under the seat during restoration were evidence of just some of the European road trips he made in the 50s. The car also competed in various VSCC events, before being pushed into service as the Lorenzatos' daily transport during the 1960s (including the harsh winter of 1962/63).

Alice was last seen in Luton in 1964 at a 30-98 Register meeting and was on the road for a further three years, before being retired to the family garage with a cracked block. Talking to Vauxhall staff at the VBOA meeting, Kay Lorenzato had fond memories of attending rallies in Alice with her husband in the early 60s – including one at Brooklands –

Alice's appearance, which still shows the scars of a 93-year life, has carefully been preserved and recalled how attached they both were to the car.

Well known restorer and vintage racer, Mark Walker, purchased Alice from Kay at a Bonhams Beaulieu auction and over the last year and a half has undertaken a full mechanical restoration. The block has been repaired and new high-compression pistons fitted, but wherever possible Mark has retained original components, with 'conservation' rather than 'restoration' being his mantra.

And Alice's appearance, which still shows the scars of a 93-year life, has carefully been preserved, with even the original leather trim being saved during the process.

"In Alice, 60mph at 2,000 rpm is still a comfortable and smooth cruising speed and the car keeps up well with modern traffic," said Walker. "Higher speeds are certainly possible, but with only rear brakes, probably not advisable! I intend to use the car as family transport and would love to recreate the trip over the Grimsel Pass one day"

DS returns to hot hatch sector with spicy baby

By Matt Kimberley

Unveiled at the 2016 Geneva Motor Show, the DS 3 Performance is at the hot and pointy end of the range. A new 1.6-litre turbocharged engine and a new gearbox are supported by new springs and dampers, the latest Michelin sports tyres and huggy new seats, plus, of course, all the interface revisions of the common-or-garden DS 3.

There are two body styles; hatchback and semi-convertible. The latter has an electrically sliding and folding canvas panel with a heated glass rear screen, and is just 25kg heavier than the hatchback.

Sitting lower and wider than standard on its black wheels, the Performance is a beefy and potent-looking little car. Good colour choices have been added to the palette. Even from a distance it looks more purposeful than the standard car, which is no bad thing. Just watch those rims on kerbs – they sit well proud of the tyre sidewall.

This was never a DS strong suit. The boot here is actually fine for the class, at 285 litres, but there's barely any legroom in the back. On the other hand, if you can happily pretend the rear seats aren't there, there are some useful touches in the cabin.

Spacious

There's a large, open-faced bin at the base of the centre console, a slim ledge a few inches above it and spacious door pockets. That said, pick the pace up a bit and the door pockets will be the last place you want to leave anything solid.

A Torsen limited-slip differential and a widened track, especially at the front, give the DS 3's nose a real sense of purpose and capability.

It's not the fastest hatch in the world, but it has plenty of poke for punching out of corners, with no sign of traction issues on the warm French Tarmac of the test route.

The Michelin tyres are a bit unforgiving over bumps, adding a hard edge to the much-improved damping. It stays super-composed and flat even when attacking tight bends, as long as the road is reasonably smooth, but let's just say you'll know when you hit a pothole.

The new gearbox is a vast improvement, delivering crisp shifts with minimal resistance through the crucial second-to-third action.

Powering out of corners tends to lead to a bit of squirming at the wheel because the mechanical limited-slip diff activates as the turbo kicks in, but keep your foot down and ride it out – the chassis can cope.

Talent

DS has priced its spicy new baby more or less in line with its turbocharged European rivals, and the fact it's tangibly better to drive than its Citroen-badged predecessor makes it better value.

It has a bag full of talent on all sorts of roads and you don't need three world championships under your belt to make use of it. This is a car that finally makes a strong case for itself.

Hot hatchbacks come in two tiers these days; the relatively sensible 200bhp-or-so end and the lobotomy-spec 300bhp-plus brigade.

The DS 3 Performance, as part of the former group, makes sense as a daily driver for someone looking for excitement without wanting to sacrifice their wallets to oil and insurance companies. Younger buyers will inevitably go for the looks and the power.

This car summed up in a single word: Chunky. If this car was a: boxer it would be a hard-punching lightweight with a bright future ahead of him.

HMS Victory and the Mary Rose

- ✓ Return coach travel
- ✓ Overnight half-board accommodation
- ✓ Entrance to the Portsmouth Historic Dockyard to see HMS Victory and the Mary Rose Museum
- ✓ Visit to Winchester
- ✓ Services of a tour driver
- ✓ Single rooms subject to availability - supplement applies

Organised by Diamond Holidays (ABTA W0552)

Step aboard the oldest commissioned warship in the world and proud memorial to Britain's greatest naval hero.

Between 1778 and 1812, HMS Victory took part in five naval battles - Trafalgar being the most famous and last, in which she lived up to her name and carried Vice Admiral Nelson to victory.

Today, she has become one of the UK's favourite visitor attractions and this is a wonderful opportunity to experience life on board this iconic vessel.

Explore the once crowded decks where over 800 men lived, worked and fought. Highlights include the Great Cabin where the Battle of Trafalgar was planned, the Quarter Deck, with a plaque marking the spot where Vice Admiral Lord Horatio Nelson was shot, and the Orlop Deck, where Nelson died after receiving news of victory.

View the Mary Rose museum with its state of the art building which houses the most comprehensive collection of Tudor artefacts in the world, the highlight of which is the Mary Rose - Henry VIII's magnificent warship.

Other highlights at the Dockyard include HMS Warrior and the National Museum of the Royal Navy. Free time in the historic city of Winchester is also part of the break.

Ladies Basketball Most valuable Player was Lauren Saa

Brunt centre stage for Sporting presentation

BAGGIES star Chris Brunt was the star attraction at the annual Sport club Albion presentation evening.

More than 300 eager footballers and basketball players flocked to The Hawthorns for the event.

The Northern Ireland international was on hand to distribute the awards as representatives from the girls' centre of excellence, ladies' football and basketball teams flooded the Richardson Suite for a night of celebration.

Sporting Club Albion is an integral part of The Albion Foundation and provides an opportunity for the local community to wear the Baggies' colours in a range of sports. The club has more than 250 players and 20 teams.

Brunt happily handed out awards and posed for photos with the award winners in each age group.

Individual trophies were given for the players' player, coach's player and parents' player of the year. And as is the tradition in basketball, there was a most valuable player (MVP) award.

Unbeaten

Compered by girls centre of excellence manager Louise Scott, the night featured a multitude of videos and photos highlighting an action-packed season which included the under-16 boys' basketball team remaining unbeaten all season and the Sporting Club Albion Ladies side reaching the County Cup final and progressing to the quarter-finals of the Women's FA Cup where they came up against Women's Super League side Manchester City.

Rob Lake, director of the foundation, said: "It was fantastic to see such an excited crowd at another of our end of season awards nights. The atmosphere was electric."

day to join us. Being on stage for the players to have their photo with him really made the night special for them. There is a great trust and respect between the coaches and I felt that was demonstrated with their speeches. I cannot speak highly enough of the group."

The night also featured the announcement that the Sporting Club Albion set up would revert to West Bromwich Albion as of next season, meaning all teams will play under the Baggies name. The evening ended with the distribution of the Peter Rippington Award.

The accolade is in honour of Peter Rippington, who died in 2012. A long-standing supporter of all levels of football, he was teacher at Alvechurch School, and the father of former Club Albion player Amy. Mr Rippington was renowned for being loyal, selfless, and hard working in every aspect of his life, and the recipient of this award shares such traits.

The award is given to the player who, in the eyes of the ladies' coaching team and senior playing staff, has represented the SCA badge with the same loyalty and dedication that Mr Rippington represented his family, his school and his community.

This year, the award was dedicated to four Sporting Club Albion Ladies players – Kelly Darby, Hazzana

Parnell, Eleanor Clarke and Billie Haynes – who have lost relatives throughout the season. The awards for Sporting Club Albion Ladies were not distributed due to the team still having a number of games remaining as they battle for the league title and the opportunity to be promoted to the Women's Super League.

Awards were: Girls' Centre of Excellence, football Under-11s - Coach's Player of the Year: Ellie McFarlane; Players' Player of the Year: Alannah Meynell; Parents' Player of the Year: Alannah Meynell.

Under-13s - Coach's Player: Anna Craig; Players' Player: Anna Bebb; Parents' Player: Harmonie Cotterell.

Under-15s - Coach's Player: Charlie Whitehouse; Players' Player: Freya Owens; Parents' Player: Katie Clarke.

Under-17s - Coach's Player: Shannon Stamps; Players' Player: Lucy Finch; Parents' Player: Lucy Finch.

Basketball, Under-16 Boys - Coach's Player of the Year: Adam Tiley; Player's Player of the Year: Sulyman Suwareh; Boys Most Valuable Player: Connor Lynch.

Under-18 Girls - Coach's Player: Oliwia Zegel; Players' Player: Lauren Saa; Girls Most Valuable Player: Lauren Saa; Boys - Coach's Player: Taron-deep Nijjar; Players' Player: Jrae Lue; Boys Most Valuable Player: Encosee Richards.

Under-19 Boys - Coach's Player: Matej Dudak; Players' Player: Jamal Brown; Boys Most Valuable Player: Jamal Brown.

Mens - Coach's Player of the Year: Dale Deakin and Dinais Tobi-Lara; Players' Player: Ramone Joseph; Most Valuable Player: Dailian Mason.

Women's - Coach's Player: Abby Watson; Players' Player: Lauren Saa; Most Valuable Player: Fatosh Tozaki.

Peter Rippington Award: Kelly Darby, Hazzana Parnell, Eleanor Clarke, Billie Haynes.

Ellie McFarlane was named the under-11s Coach's Player of the Year

Stour pay as catches are dropped

Stourbridge 185-9 lost to Wombourne (188-8) by two wickets

SIX matches into the season and Stourbridge 1st XI find themselves at the bottom of the Birmingham League Division Two and still without a win.

Their latest defeat against local rivals Wombourne was a close fought match that could have turned out different had four crucial catches been held.

Home side skipper Ian Walker who put Stour in was rewarded with two quick wickets, losing Alex Bingham and Mikesh Jivan-Patel in the first over and without score.

Fifteen year old Zain Ul Hassan and James Winders put on 58. Winders smashed 33 off 31 balls. Once Ul Hassan was out for 35, skipper Matt Bradley and Josh Banks consolidated Stour's position with a 77 stand. When Bradley was out Stour's score was 160-5 off 24 overs. Stour's tail managed just 17 more runs. Banks was bowled by Adam Quiney for 33, giving him 4-37 off 10 overs.

Wombourne's opening pair Karl Quiney and Waqas Ahmed blasted 68 runs off 60 balls.

The runaway partnership was cut short by Ul Hassan being Quiney caught for 30 in the slips by Banks, the first of four brilliant catches by him. Seventeen runs later the belligerent Ahmed was caught off Ul Hassan by Banks for 54 off 37 with six 4s and three 6s.

Ahmed's wicket on 85 was followed immediately by a direct hit run out by Alex Bingham of Jack Lewis for a duck.

Stour's below-par total started to look imposing as Wombourne's innings collapsed to 98-4 in the 14th over and then 101-5 after 20 and 112-6.

Number seven Ryan Quiney and Adam Quiney put on 63 off 66 balls. But a series of catches went down to hand over the opposition 20 points.

Glassboys stalwart Broadhurst claims hat-trick of awards

STOURBRIDGE stalwart Leon Broadhurst picked up a hat-trick of awards at the Glassboys' end of season presentation evening.

The 32-year old midfielder, who joined Stourbridge in 2003, chalked up his 600th appearance for the club in February. He received the Manager's Player of the Year from boss Gary Hackett, the Supporters' Man of the Match award (in memory of Steve Hickman) and the coveted Players' Player of the Year.

The Board of Directors Player of the Year, presented in memory of Alan Pitt, was awarded to club captain Stuart Pierpoint, while Brian Smikle was named the Supporters' Player of the Year and the top goalscorer trophy was presented to Karl Hawley.

Stourbridge's first pre-season friendly will be at Leamington on Saturday, July 9 at 3pm. The following weekend they make the short trip to Stourport Swifts before taking on Kidderminster Harriers in the first round of the Worcestershire Senior Cup on July 18, at 7.45pm.

Goalkeeper Charlie Price has moved to Alvechurch.

Youngsters can net free tennis

Leon Smith, second left, with Kieran Beattie, Andy Griffin and Craig Unitt from SLT

YOUNG tennis enthusiasts can take advantage of free coaching this summer, thanks to the success of Great Britain's Davis Cup team.

Sandwell Leisure Trust (SLT) has been awarded funding to deliver a six-week block of free mini tennis coaching for five-to-eight-year-olds at Tipton Sports Academy, in Wednesbury Oak Road.

Sessions start next Wednesday, June 8, from 4-5pm and run until July 13, as well as on Saturdays from June 11 to July 16, from 9-10am.

This follows three tennis coaches, Kieran Beattie, aged 28, from Sedgley, Andy Griffin, 29, and

Tennis

Craig Unitt, 37, both from Tipton, being trained up by the GB Davis Cup captain Leon Smith.

SLT Sports Development Officer, Lee Marks said: "This is an amazing project to get more young people playing tennis."

To book, visit clubspark.lta.org.uk and select 'Tennis for Kids' and search for 'Tipton, Sandwell'. Anyone unable to access one of the courses this time round can 0121 506 4980 or email lee.marks@slt-leisure.co.uk

Struggling riders given Max backing

SKIPPER Max Clegg is backing Cradley's struggling riders to battle through their confidence crisis.

The Heathens remain unbeaten in their home meetings at Wolverhampton this season but are clearly struggling on their travels.

They were well beaten at Eastbourne on Saturday before Clegg teamed up with Ash Morris to secure a draw at Buxton in the Knockout Cup.

They are clear favourites to progress when the sides meet again in the return leg at Monmore on June 13.

Said Clegg: "We've got some riders struggling, but they are riding for Cradley for a reason and I'm sure they'll come good."

"They have the ability, it's just a case of them getting the self-belief and confidence to start scoring more points."

"We're trying to help them as much as we can and hopefully things will click for everyone and we'll improve even more as a team."

"It's been a decent start to the season for us, especially at home, but I think there is definitely a lot more to come from us."

Meanwhile Cradley legend Simon Cross is heading back to the town to meet his fans next month.

Cross, who piled up more than 5,000 points for the club in the Dudley Wood era, will be on stage at Cradley Heath Liberal Club on Monday June 20.

A bumper turnout is expected to welcome the former England Test star who now lives in France.

He said: "I'm looking forward to meeting the Cradley fans again, Cradley was always my home during my career and it will be nice to be back in the town."

Admission is £6 on the door or £5 for Heathens season ticket holders and trust members.

Harriers visit Grove for pre-season clash

HALESOWEN Town have announced their pre-season fixtures, including one with Kidderminster Harriers.

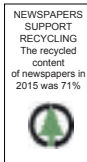

The Yeltz will start with a trip to boss John Hill's former club, Tipton Town on Saturday, July 9, and will then visit Sporting Khalsa on July 19, AFC Wulfrunians on July 23, and Alvechurch on July 26.

Three matches at The Grove will follow, starting off against John Eustace's Harriers on July 29.

The last two home friendlies will be with Redditch United on August 2, and Gresley on August 6, with the new season getting under way on August 13.

SWIMMERS FLY FLAG FOR CLUB

YOUNG Black Country stars from one of the West Midlands' top swimming clubs are aiming for success in the upcoming British Nationals.

Flying the flag for the Black Country are Rowley Regis' Chloe Finch and Ashley Markhall and Brierley Hill's Brittany Horton.

City of Birmingham Swimming Club elite coach Carl Grosvenor has high hopes of the youngsters' success at Ponds Forge in Sheffield.

"There have just been a good crop of kids at the same age come through," Grosvenor said.

"They're doing well at the moment, we've had lots of international representatives for Great Britain and England. We've had them enter and win medals at the Youth Olympics, the Commonwealth Youth Games, the World Junior Championships and the European Games.

"That's all at junior level," he added. "As a club we went nine years without someone representing us in the seniors but Luke Davies raced in the current European Championships in London."

Profile

Grosvenor has been a member of the club for 10 years and head coach for six. He is joined by Adam Taylor and Chris Littler.

Former Stourbridge Swimming Club member Horton, along with clubmate Finch and other City of Birmingham stars headed to Glasgow for the Rio Olympic qualifiers, a high-profile event that also doubled-up as a European Junior Championships qualifier.

Horton touched home in third place in her women's open 100m backstroke heat. But the 17-year-old came seventh from a field of eight in the final. The King Edward's School student swam a solid heat in the 200m back, finishing first but finished sixth in the final.

In the women's open 400m freestyle heat, ex-Halesowen Swimming Club star Finch missed out on a spot in the final after qualifying third.

But while Markhall, Finch and Horton can look ahead positively to August's ASA National Championships, the latter has found time to fit in a trip across the continent to represent GB in the Mare Nostrum series in Barcelona.

Sidecar team's weekend of frustration

A BLACK COUNTRY sidecar team has vowed to put a frustrating weekend of racing behind them before they travel to Scotland for the next round.

Martin Kirk and passenger Ben Hughes from the Stourbridge-based MK Racing team, say they feel confident their British Sidecar campaign can improve after engine failure led to disaster at Brands Hatch. The team sits 16th in the championship. The next round is at Knockhill, from June 24-26.

But the break should give the team plenty of time to get the sidecar properly prepared after failing to make the start line for the second race at Brands Hatch during round two.

Disaster struck after the sighting lap on race one as the engine destroyed itself, ending their challenge before it had even begun.

Kirk said: "It was a major blow and we were bitterly disappointed after a strong start."

"We thought we had found the issue but weren't able to rectify it and fit the spare engine for Sunday's race."
